MANCHOUKUO

DS782
+29
1937

MADE IN MANCHURIA

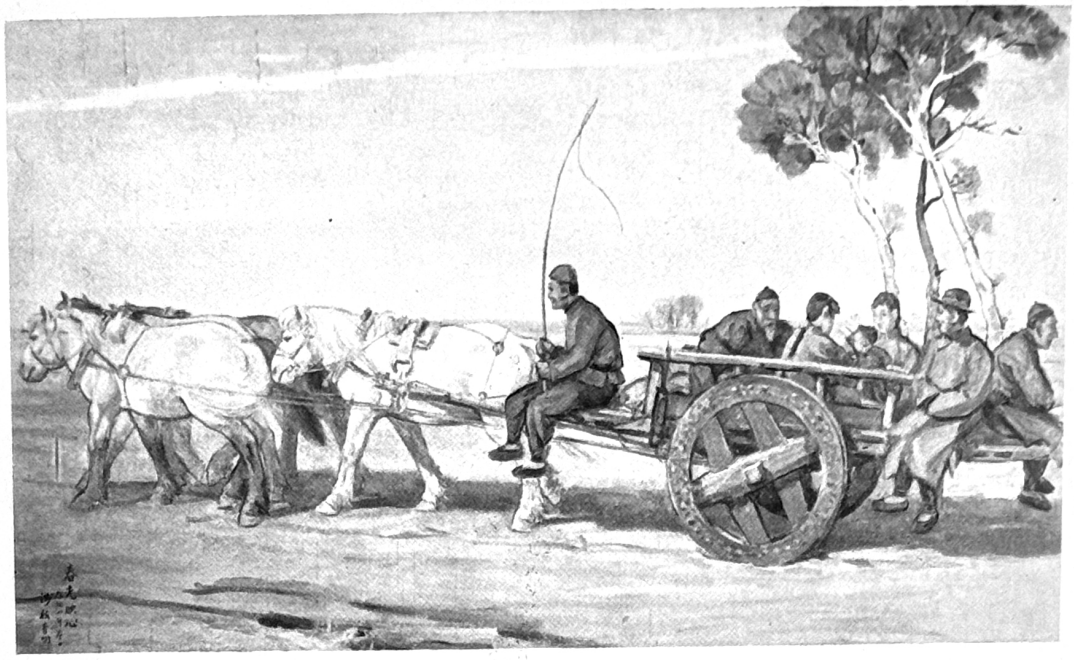
MADE IN JAPAN

Manchoukuo

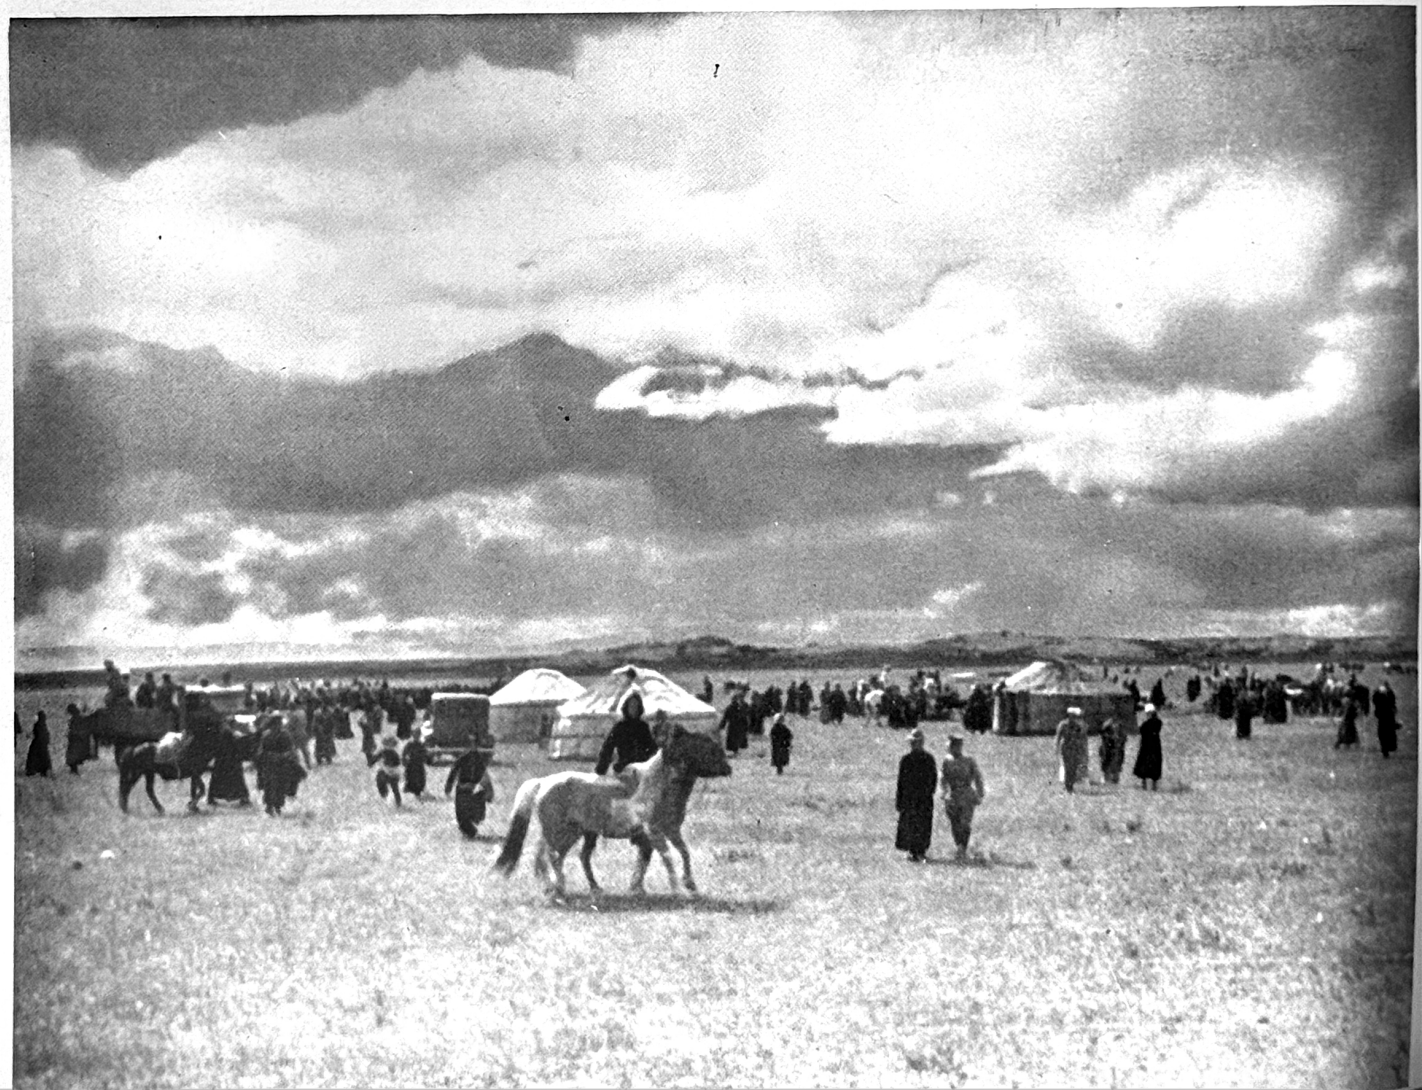
A PICTORIAL SKETCH

"The State Gymnastic Exercises."

Tachê, a sturdy mule cart, is used chiefly for transporting farm products in the country.

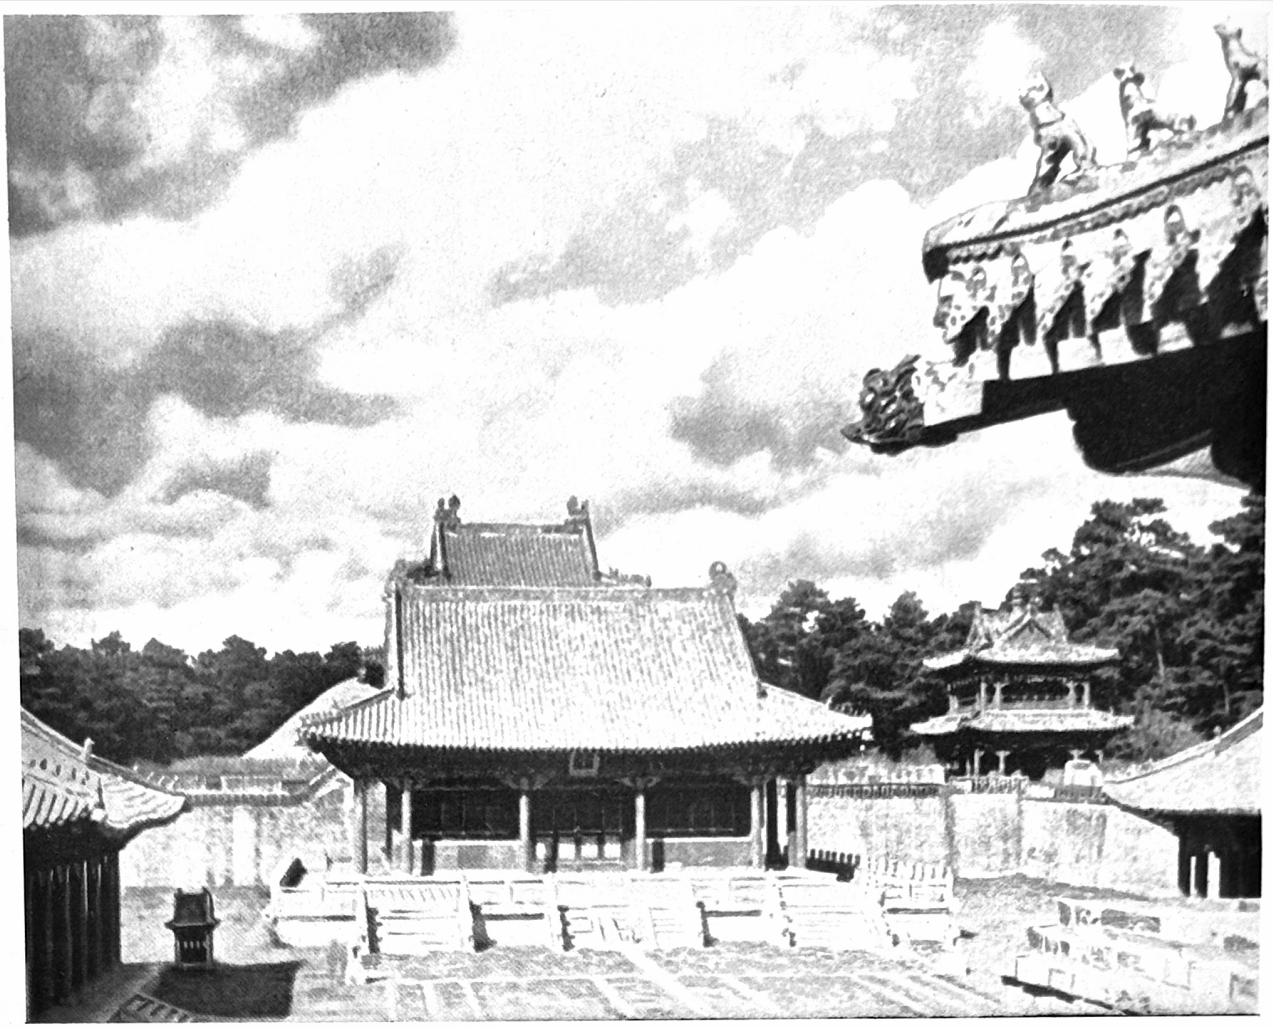


On the occasion of a Lamaic festival even the desolate Mongolian plain becomes gay. "Yurts" or Mongolian Paos such as seen in the picture spring up like mush-rooms.



Hsinking-Kirin State Highway. An efficient bus line is being operated over this road extending over 109 kilometres of beautiful sights.

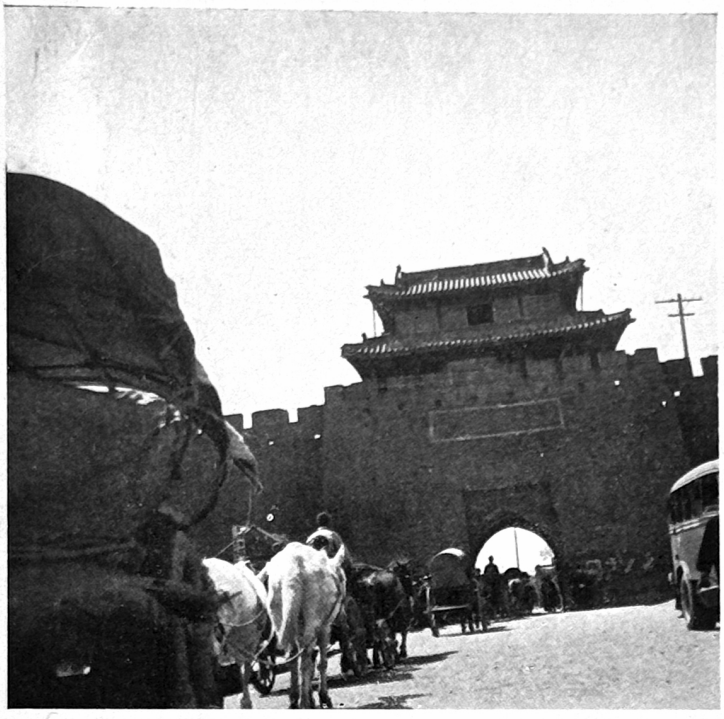
The stream-lined Super-Express "Asia." This speed monster runs between Dairen and Harbin covering the distance of 944.5 kilometres in about 13 hours, the maximum speed being 130 kilometres per hour.



The Pei-ling (North Mausoleum), Mukden, where the Emperor Tai Tsung (1626-1643), a Manchu Emperor, is entombed.

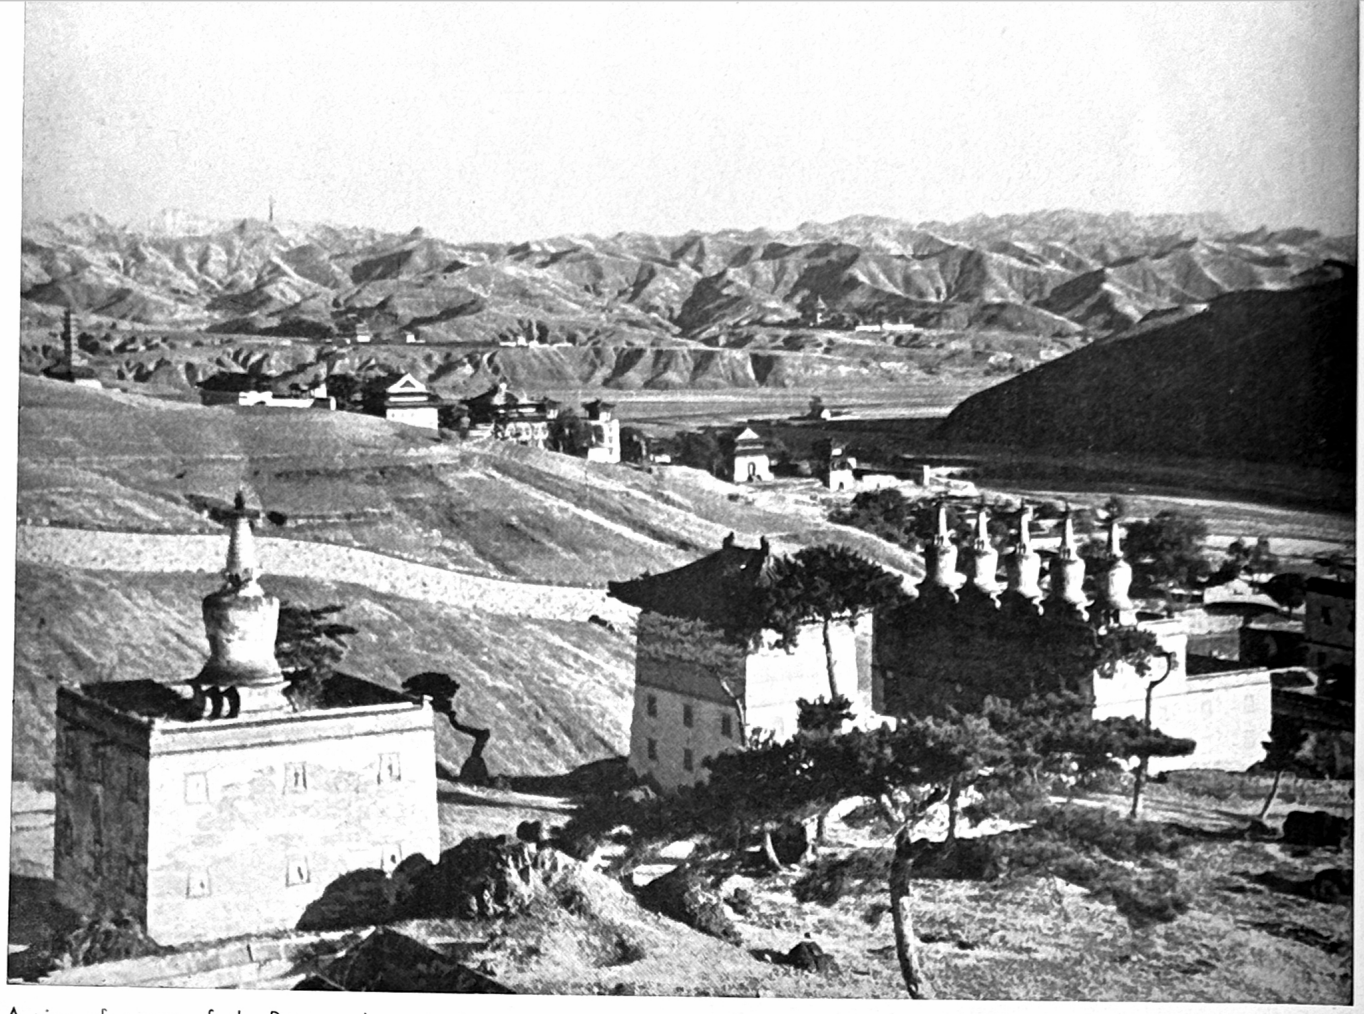
A dragon relief in porcelain on one of the side walls of a gate in the North Mausoleum, Mukden.

Fengtien Provincial Educational Society. The Educational Society of Manchoukuo with its head office in Hsinking and branch offices in each Province and Special Municipality, has over 26,000 members throughout the country.



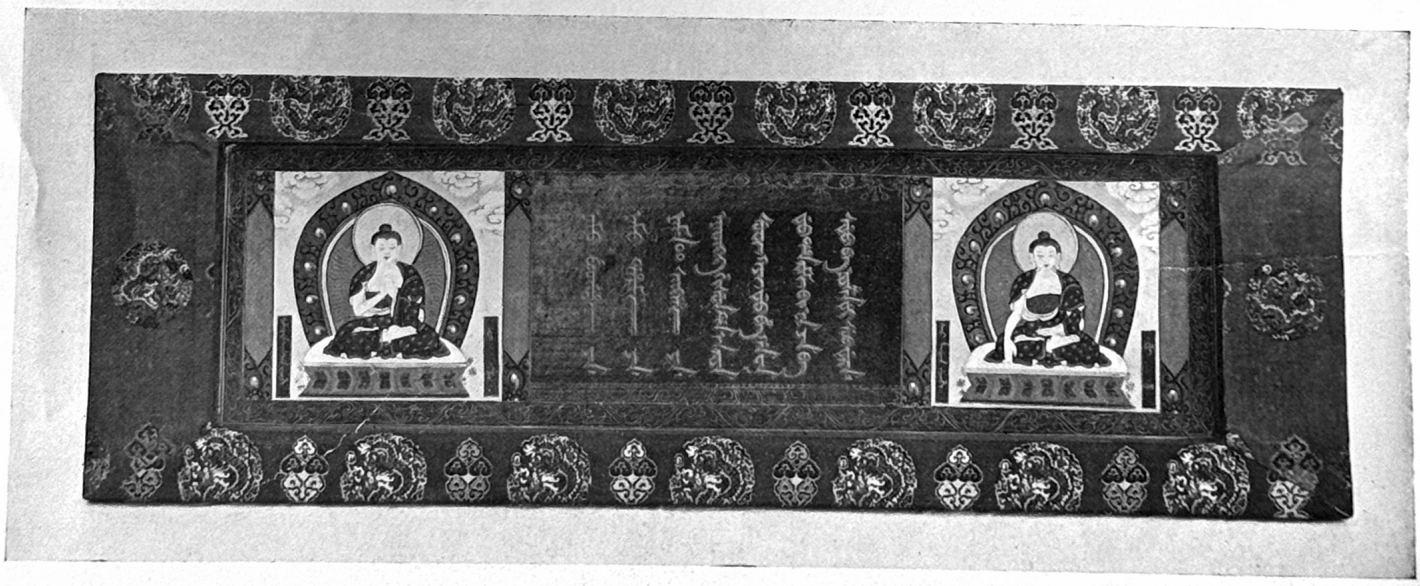
A Cheng-men (city-gate) in Shanhaikwan.

Worshiping of Confucius. Education in Manchoukuo is based upon the teachings of Confucius, and Confucian Festival is observed nationally two times a year.



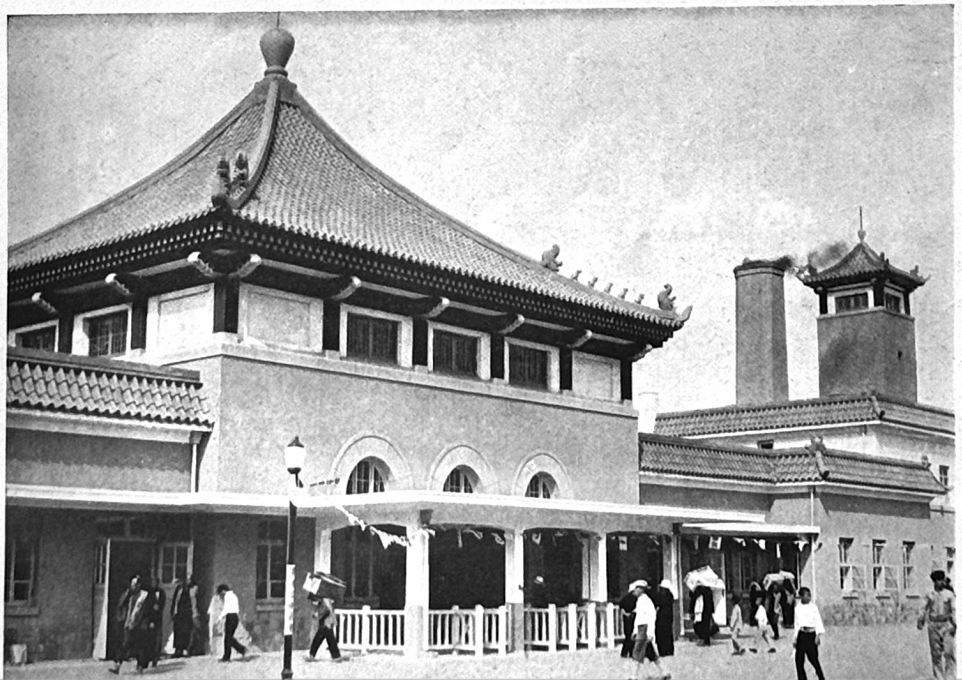
A view of a part of the Putotsungcheng-miao (a Lama temple) in Chengte (Jehol). Chengte is the land of Summer Palace and temples.

Da Tsang Bible, one of the Buddhist scriptures.



A receptacle for images of Buddha, kept in the Chengte Treasure House.

Image of Kwanen Buddha, exhibited in the Chengte Treasure House.



Recently opened Chengte station. On construction of the Pingchuan-Chengte line in March, 1936 the entire line of 436.1 kilometres between Chinchow and Chengte was opened for traffic.

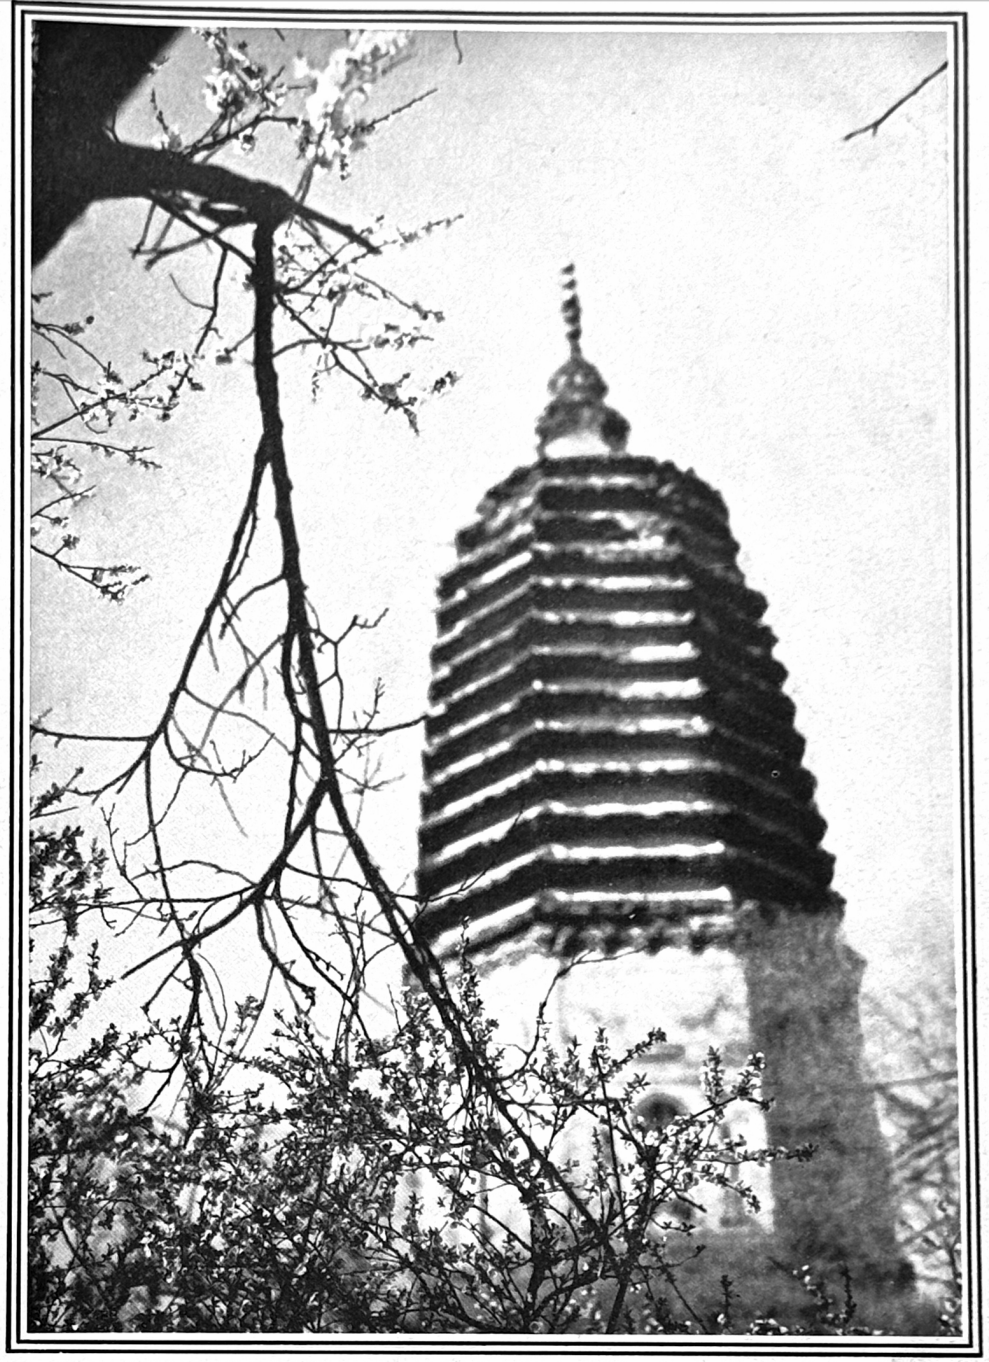
New building of the State Council, Hsinking.

Students of the Kirin Normal School for Women engaged in horticulture.

Girl students engaged in gymnastic exercises.

New building of the State Council, Hsinking.

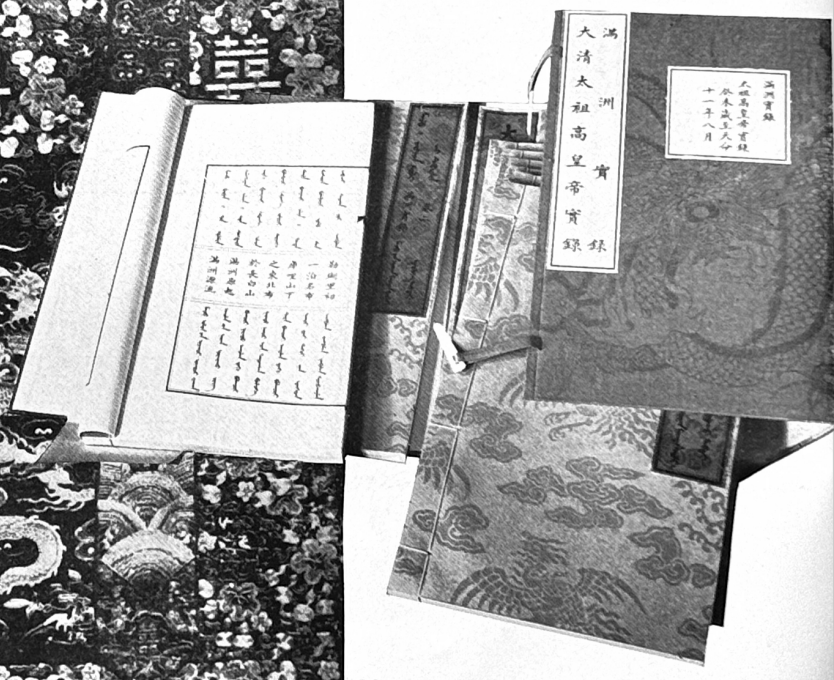
"Pai-ta" (White tower) at Liaoyang. The octagonal thirteen eaves White Tower is seventy metres high, and is the biggest Buddhist tower existing in Manchoukuo.

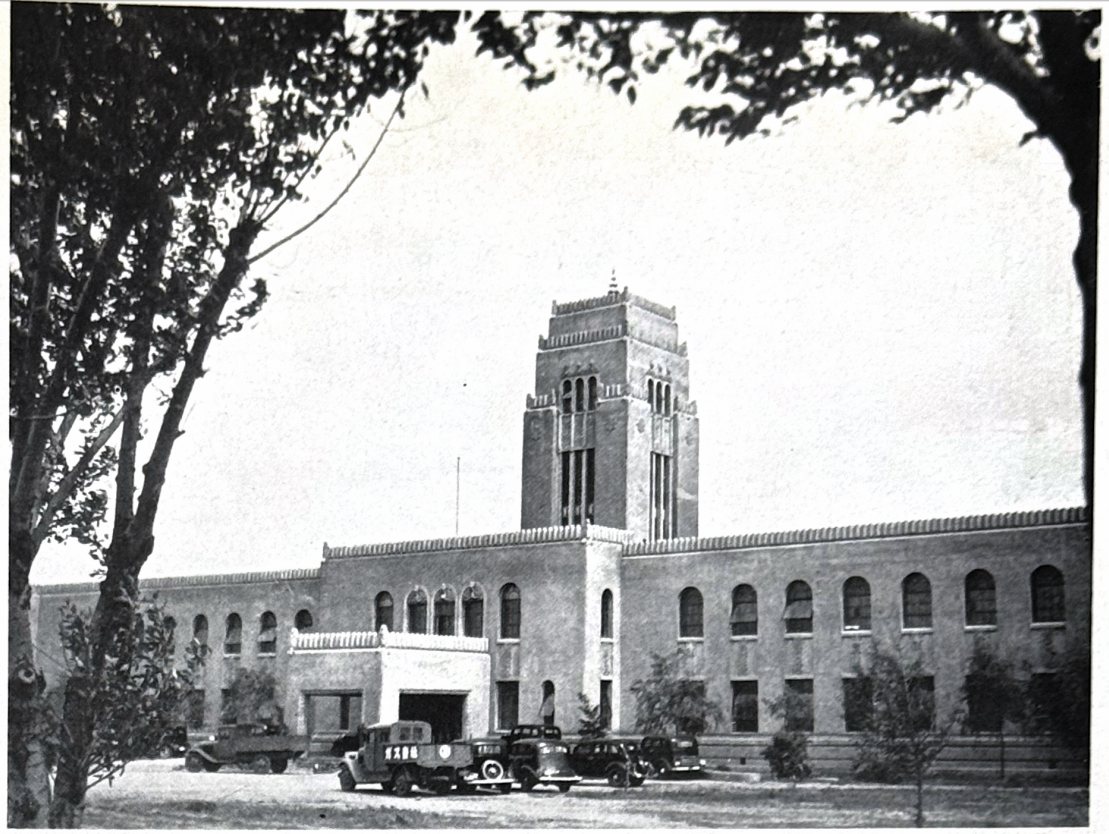


Entertainers at a Manchurian restaurant. "Ku-koong," a string instrument is commonly played by a man, while singing is done by a girl with the accompaniment of a drummer.

An ancient tapestry used by the Emperors in Ching Dynasty. (Reprinted in the "Chuan-tsu-yeng-hua", compiled by the Manchoukuo Educational Authorities.)

A copy of the Authentic Records of Ching Dynasty reprinted by the Educational Authorities.





Office of the Department of Education, Tatung Circle, Hsinking.

Hsinking Boy Scouts. Manchoukuo Boy Scouts League was established in 1932 with its headquarters in Hsinking, and now it has twelve branch-leagues in the country.

A Manchu girl student in uniform absorbed in reading.

Office of the Department of Education, Tatung Circle, Hsinking.

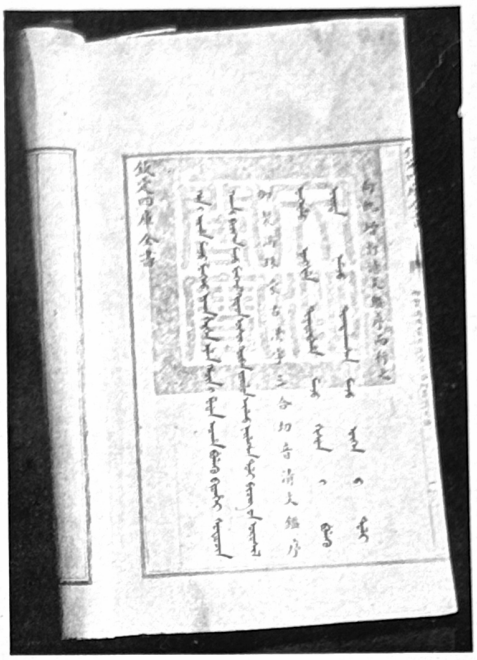
Gorgeous ancient tapestry with a design of a dragon, which is kept in the Mukden National Museum.

National Natural History Museum, Mukden. The Museum was opened in June, 1935 to safeguard the works of art of the country which was formerly left unattended.

Scene of a typical upper class Manchu home.

National Natural History Museum, Mukden. The Museum was opened in June, 1935 to safeguard the works of art of the country which was formerly left unattended.

National Library, Mukden. The Library opened in 1932 is distinguished for the exhibit of classic such as the "Four Ancient Classic Libraries" or the Chinese Encyclopaedia.



The Four Ancient Classic Libraries.

A tablet in the Wen Shuo Hall, in which the Four Ancient Classic Libraries are kept.

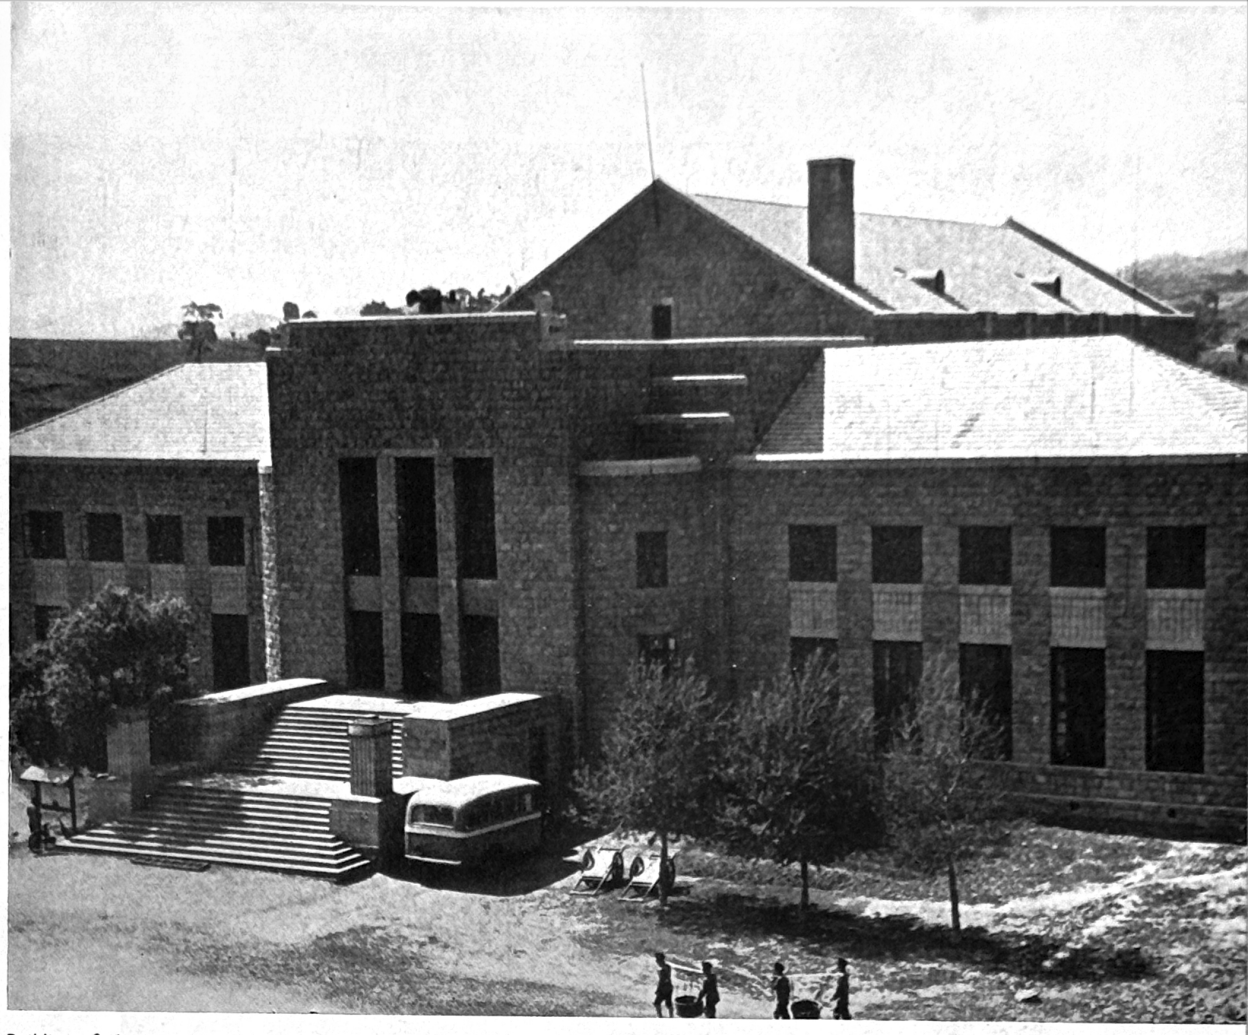
Dancers on the occasion of a Lamaic festival with the masks of a devil and a skull.

National Library, Mukden. The Library opened in 1932 is distinguished for the exhibit of classic such as the "Four Ancient Classic Libraries" or the Chinese Encyclopaedia.

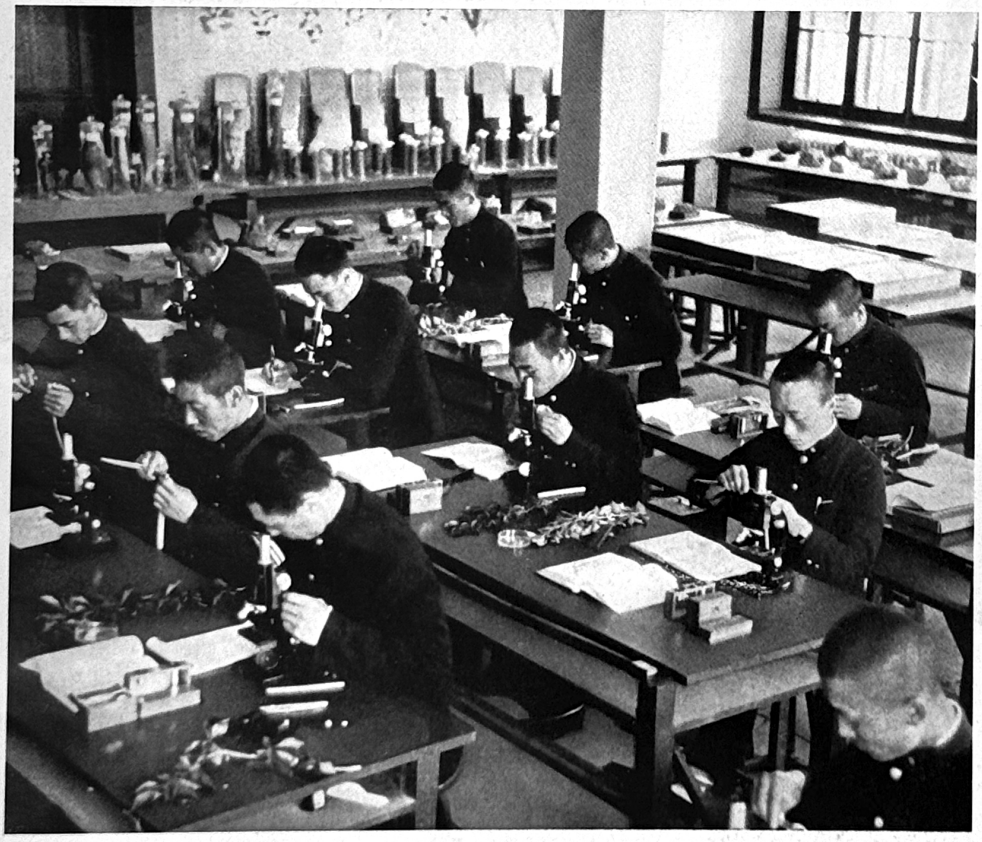
Manchu students hard at work in the reading room of their school.

Students of the Kirin Higher Normal School at work. Practical training is a branch on which special emphasis is laid in the schools of Manchoukuo.

One of the General Reading Rooms where popular reading matter such as newspapers and magazines are kept. These rooms are very popular gathering places for the people.

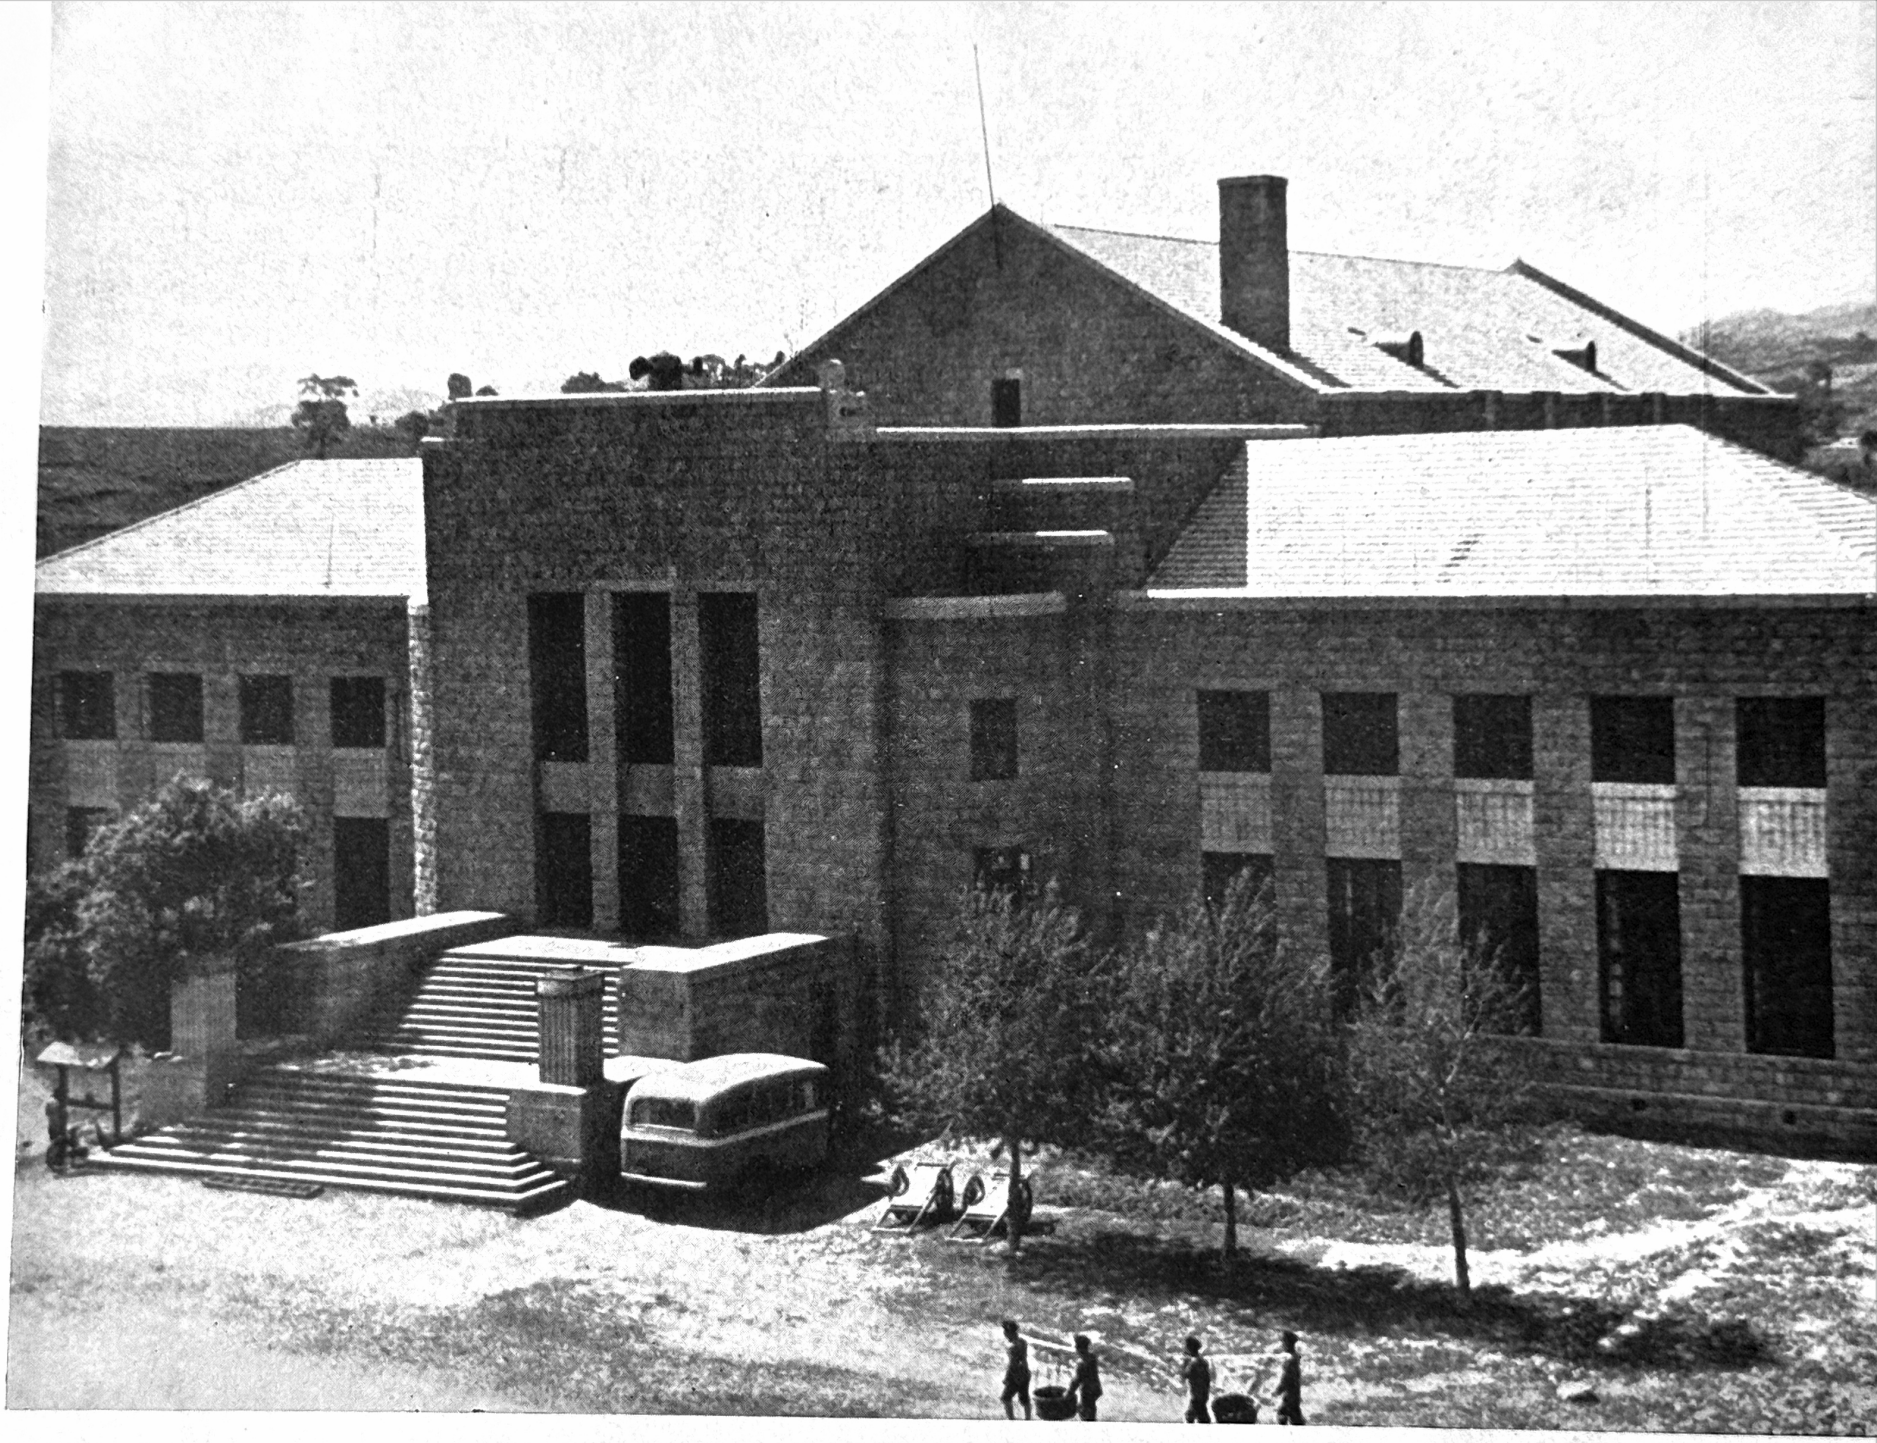


Building of the Kirin Higher Normal School. The school was opened in September of 1934 under the direct management of the Government.

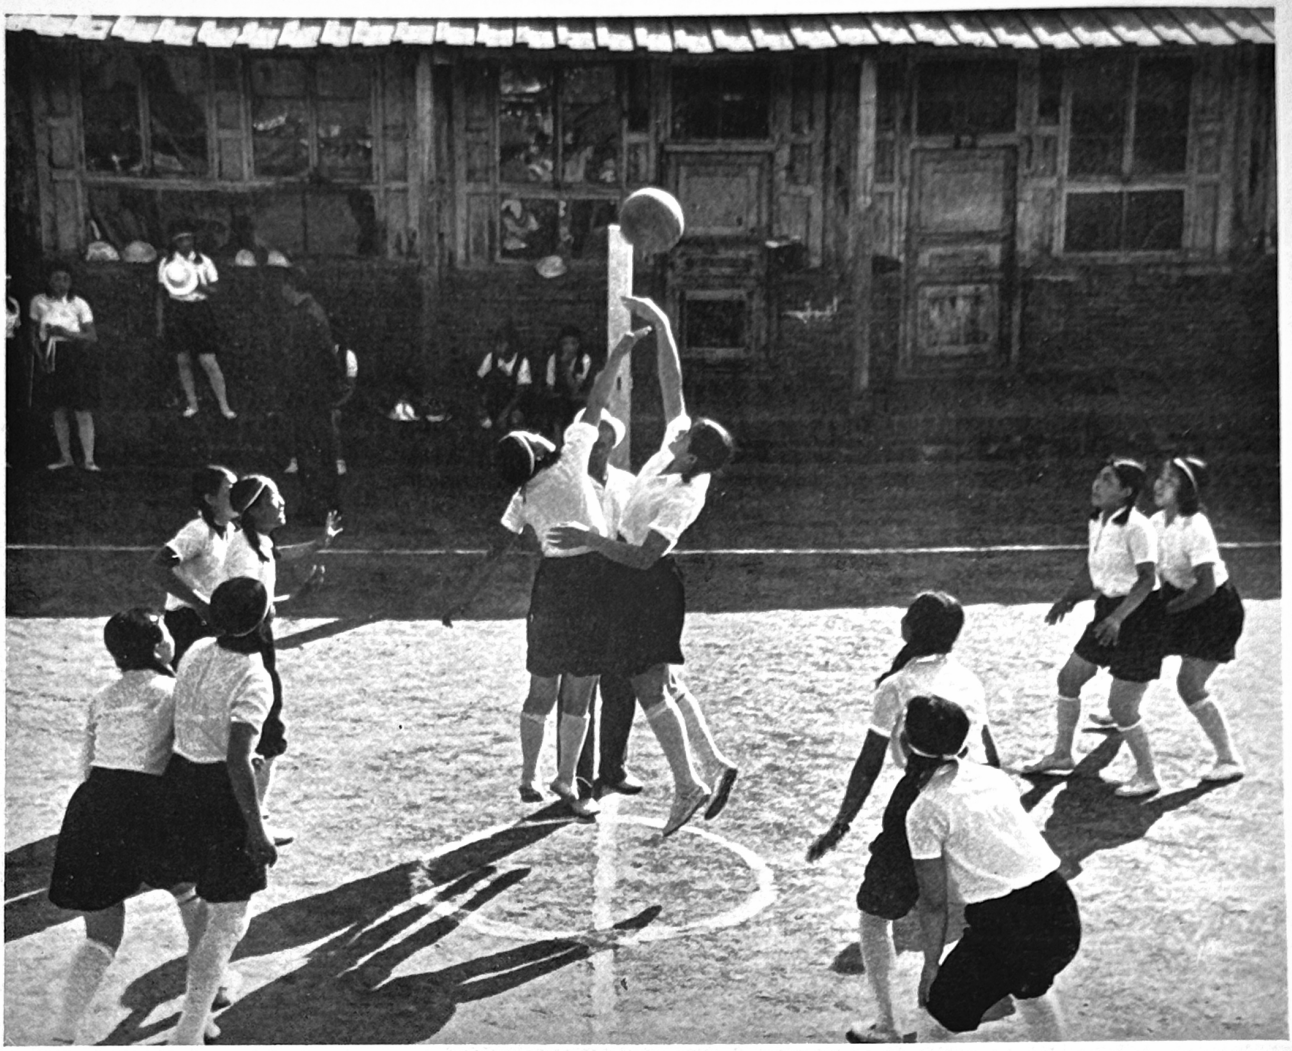


Microscopic examination (Kirin Higher Normal School).

Manchu students hard at work in the reading room of their school.



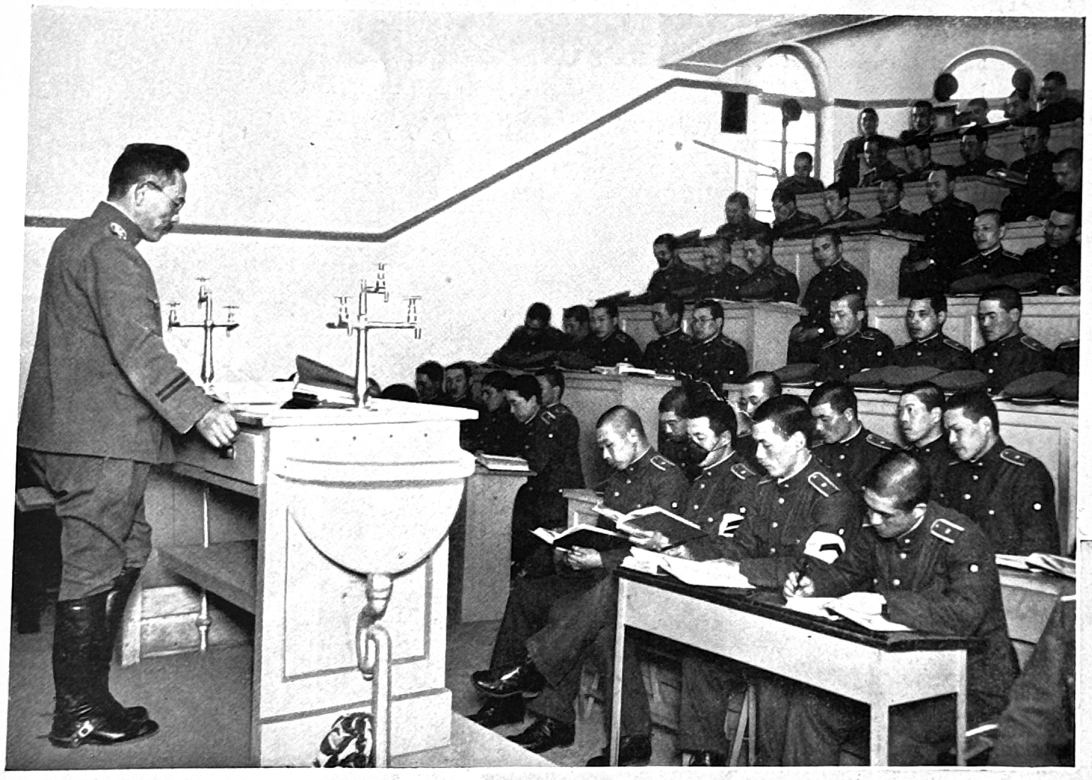
Building of the Kirin Higher Normal School. The school was opened in September of 1934 under the direct management of the Government.



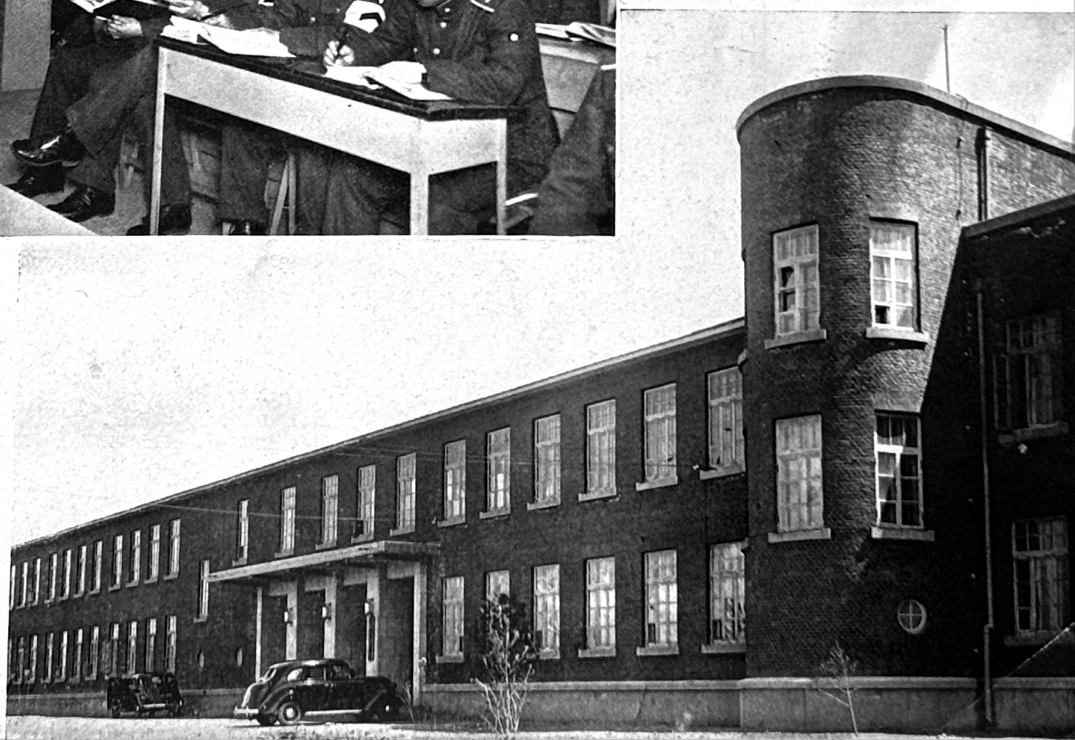
Manchu girl students playing basket ball. The Manchoukuo Educational Authorities strongly encourage athletics among the girls.

Primary school girls attending school (Hsinking).

Building of the Tatung Academy situated in the southern suburbs of Hsinking. The Academy was established especially to educate the young people for official career.

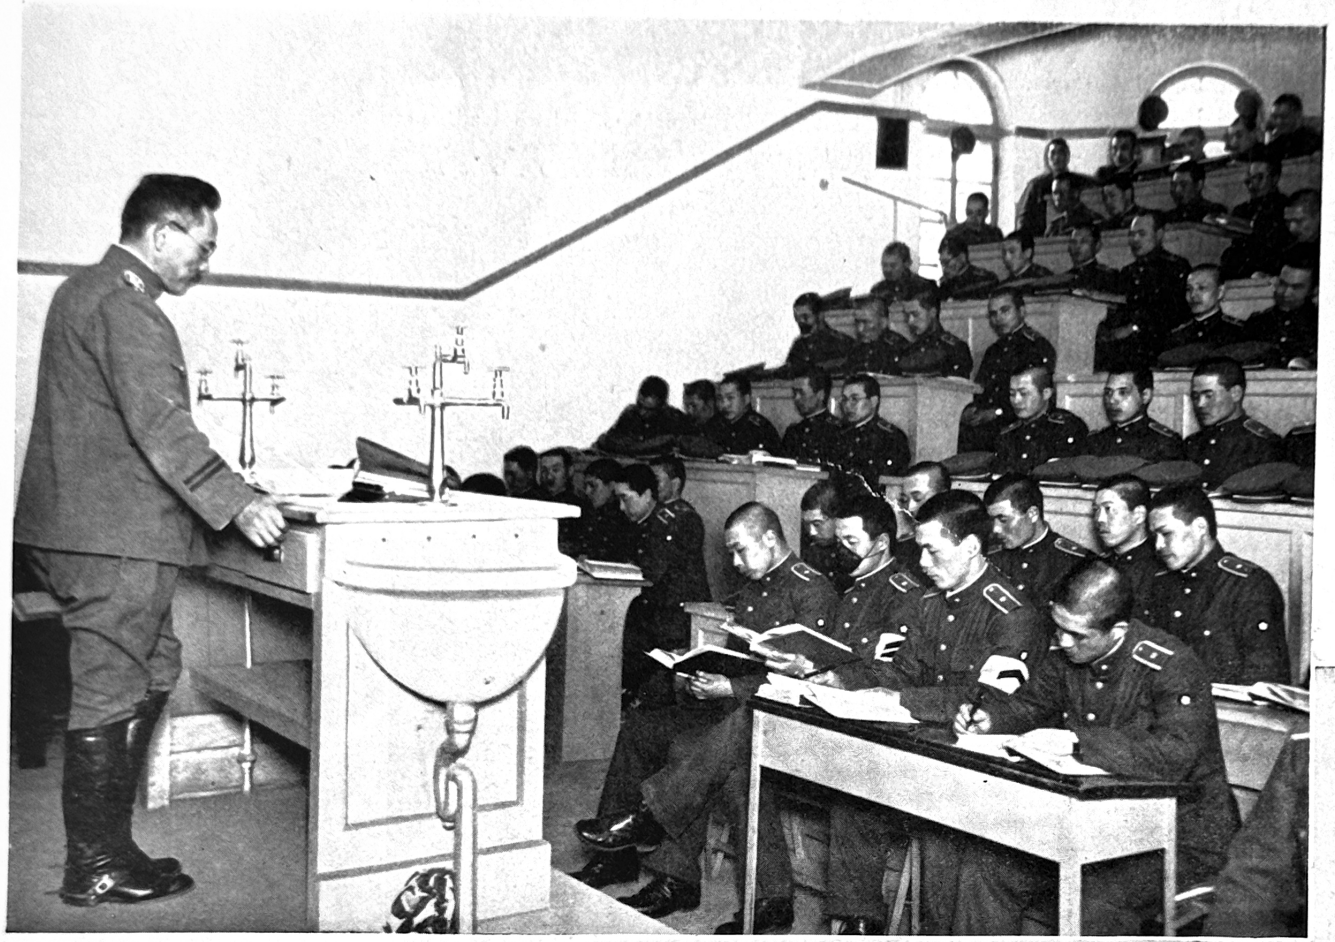


A class room scene of the Central Police Academy of Hsinking.

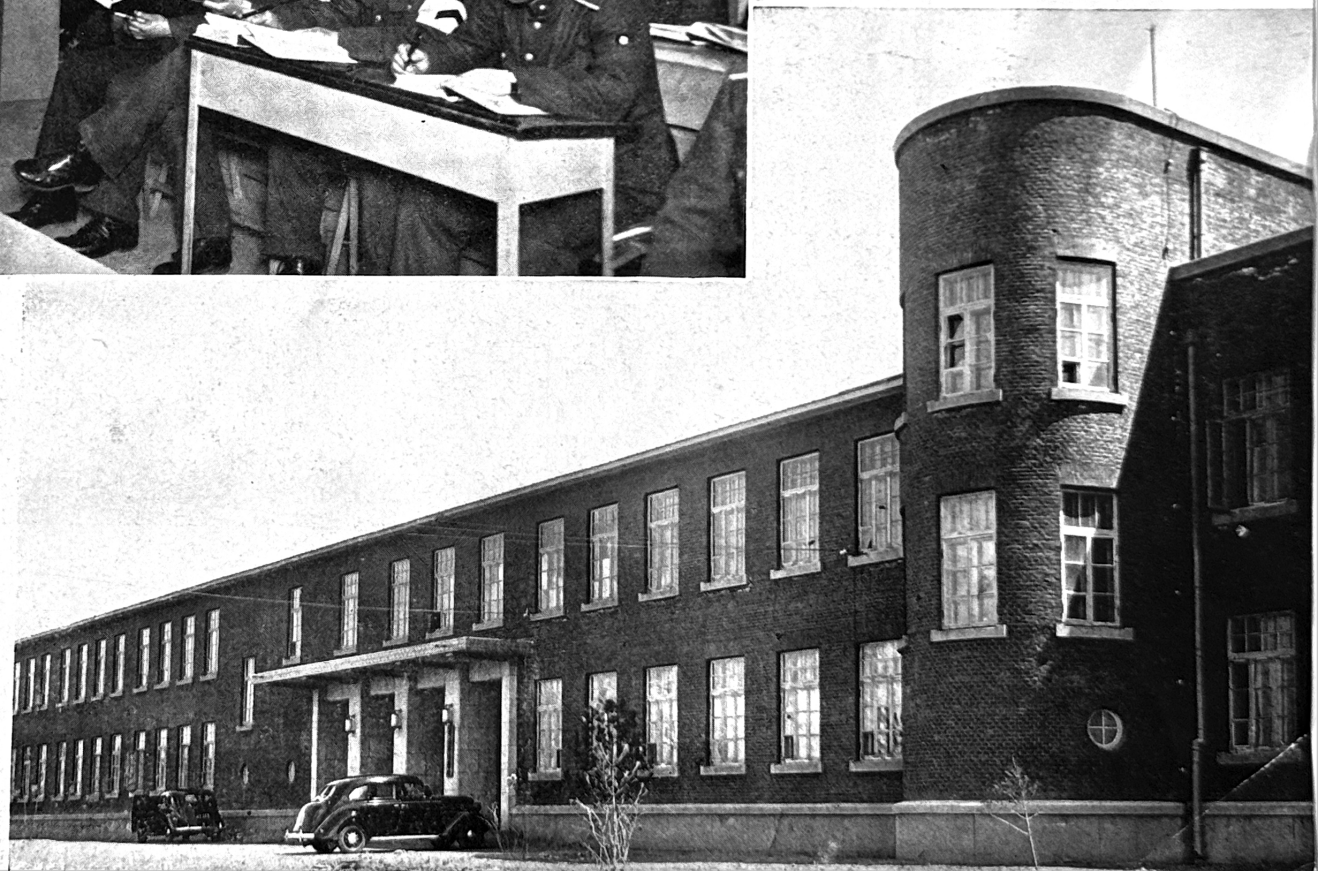


Building of the Law School attached to the Ministry of Justice, Hsinking.

Building of the Tatung Academy situated in the southern suburbs of Hsinking. The Academy was established especially to educate the young people for official career.



A class room scene of the Central Police Academy of Hsinking.



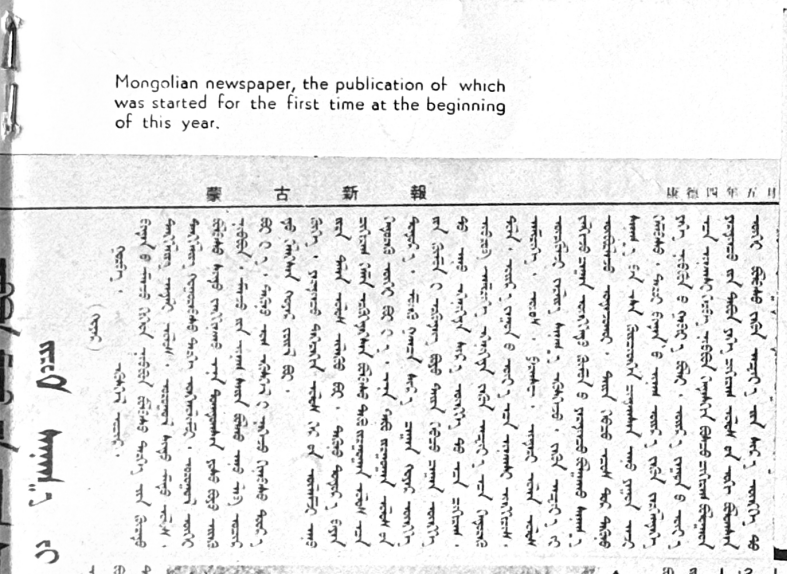
Building of the Law School attached to the Ministry of Justice, Hsinking.

Dancers, who play the leading part at a Lamaic festival, coming out of the main hall of the miao (temple).

Several Lama priests and part of the temple seen in the background. To the dreary plains of Mongolia Lama temples add colour and beauty.

Mongolian school children outside of their class room.

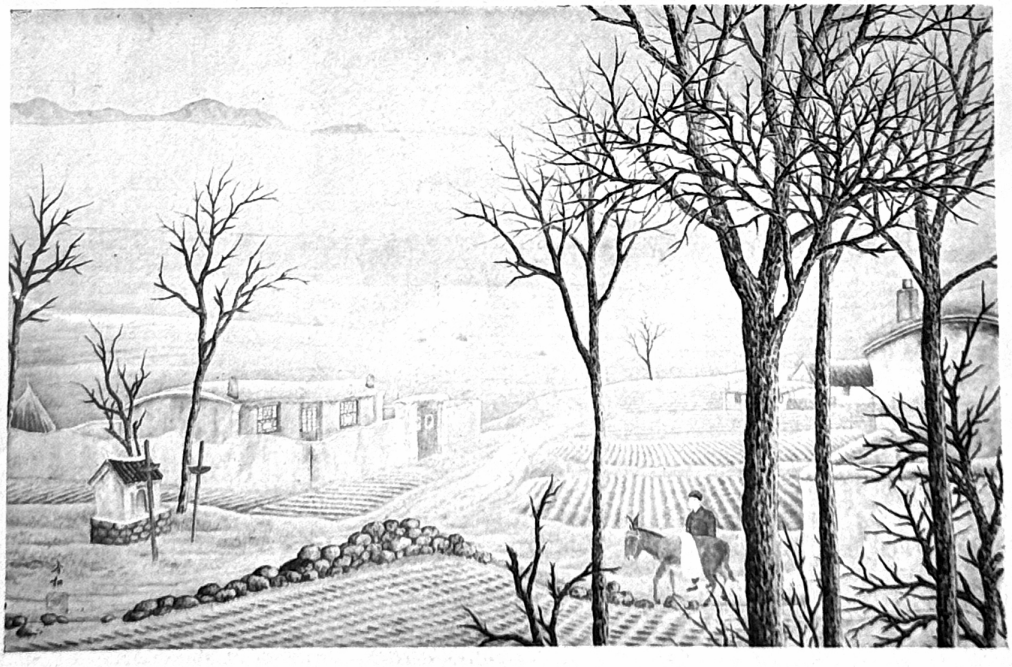
Mongolian newspaper, the publication of which was started for the first time at the beginning of this year.



A Mongolian text-book newly compiled for use in Mongolian primary schools.

A view of the city of Chinchow. An age-old Lama tower towering high up into the sky gives a special feature to the city.

A typical rural scene in Manchoukuo.

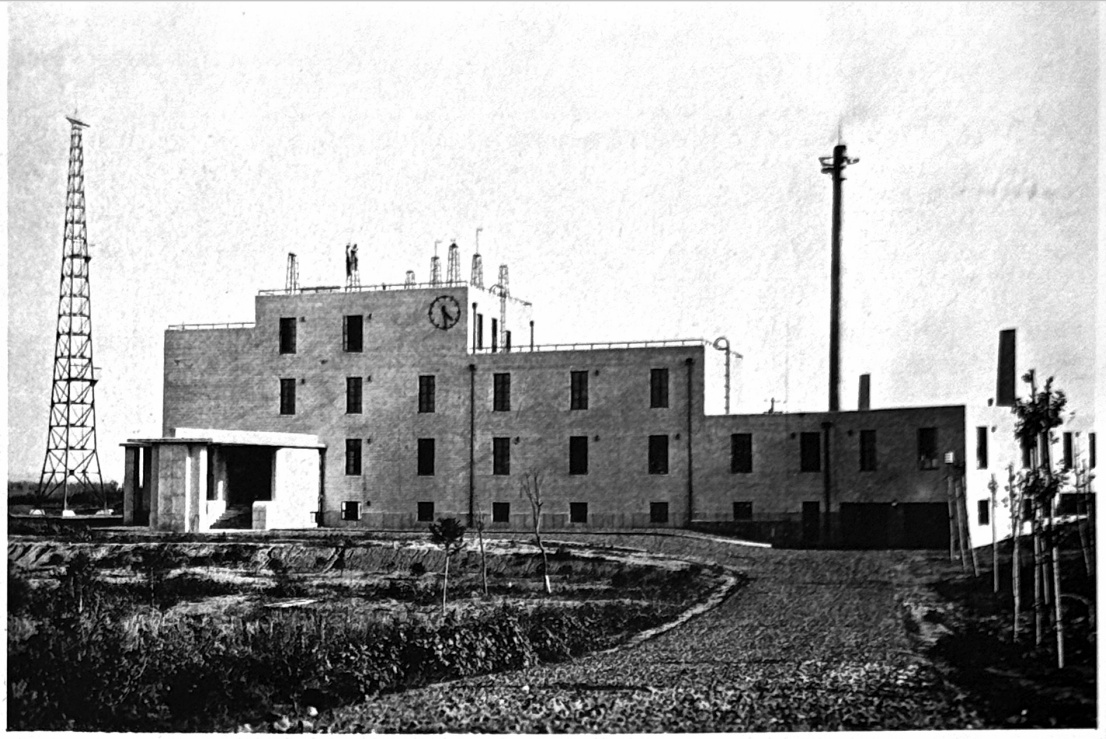


The new imposing structures of the Department of Justice on the right and of the State Council on the left backward.

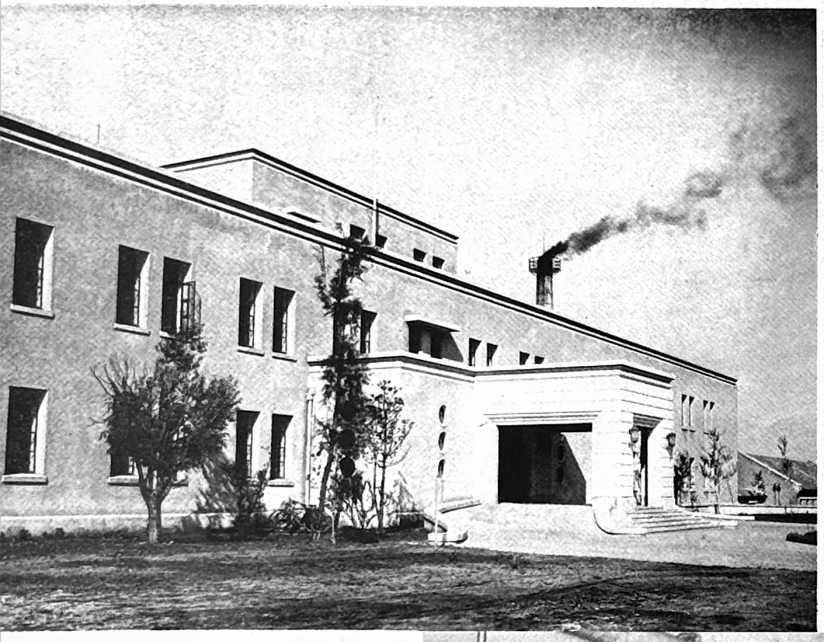
Manchuria Telephone and Telegraph Company. The Company situated at the Tatung Circle of Hsinking was established in 1932 with the capital of 50, 000,000 yuan.

The new imposing structures of the Department of Justice on the right and of the State Council on the left backward.

Manchuria Telephone and Telegraph Company. The Company situated at the Tatung Circle of Hsinking was established in 1932 with the capital of 50, 000,000 yuan.

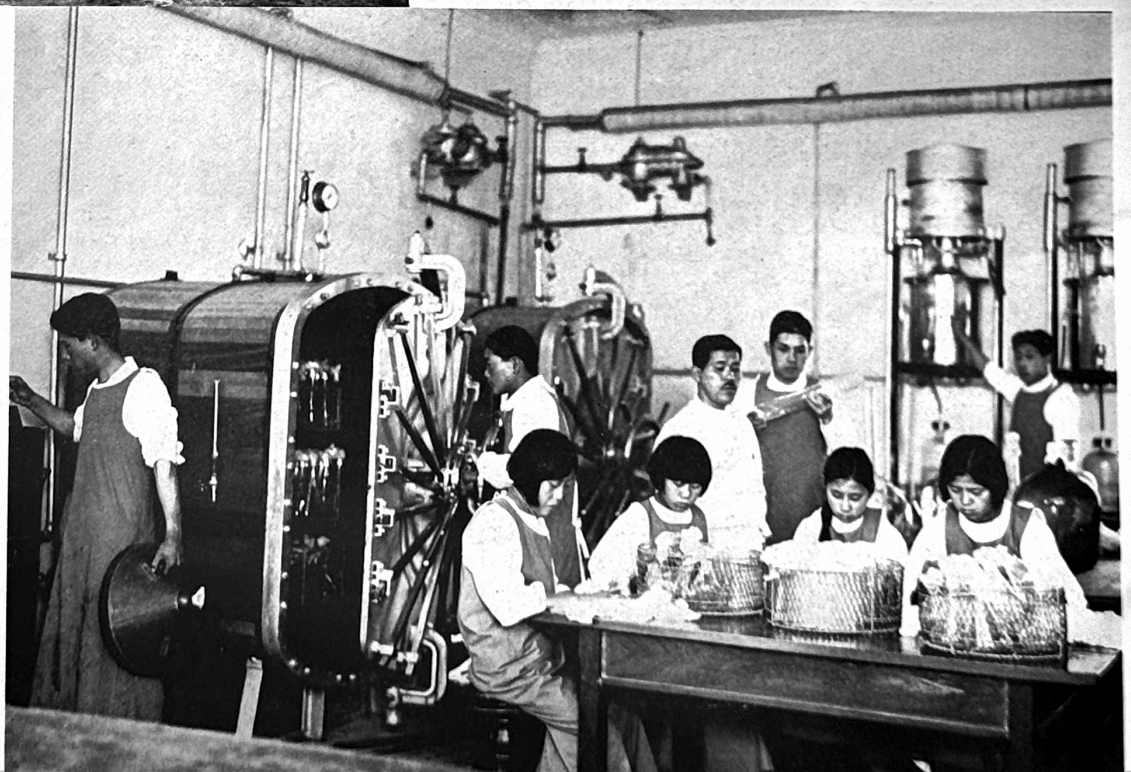


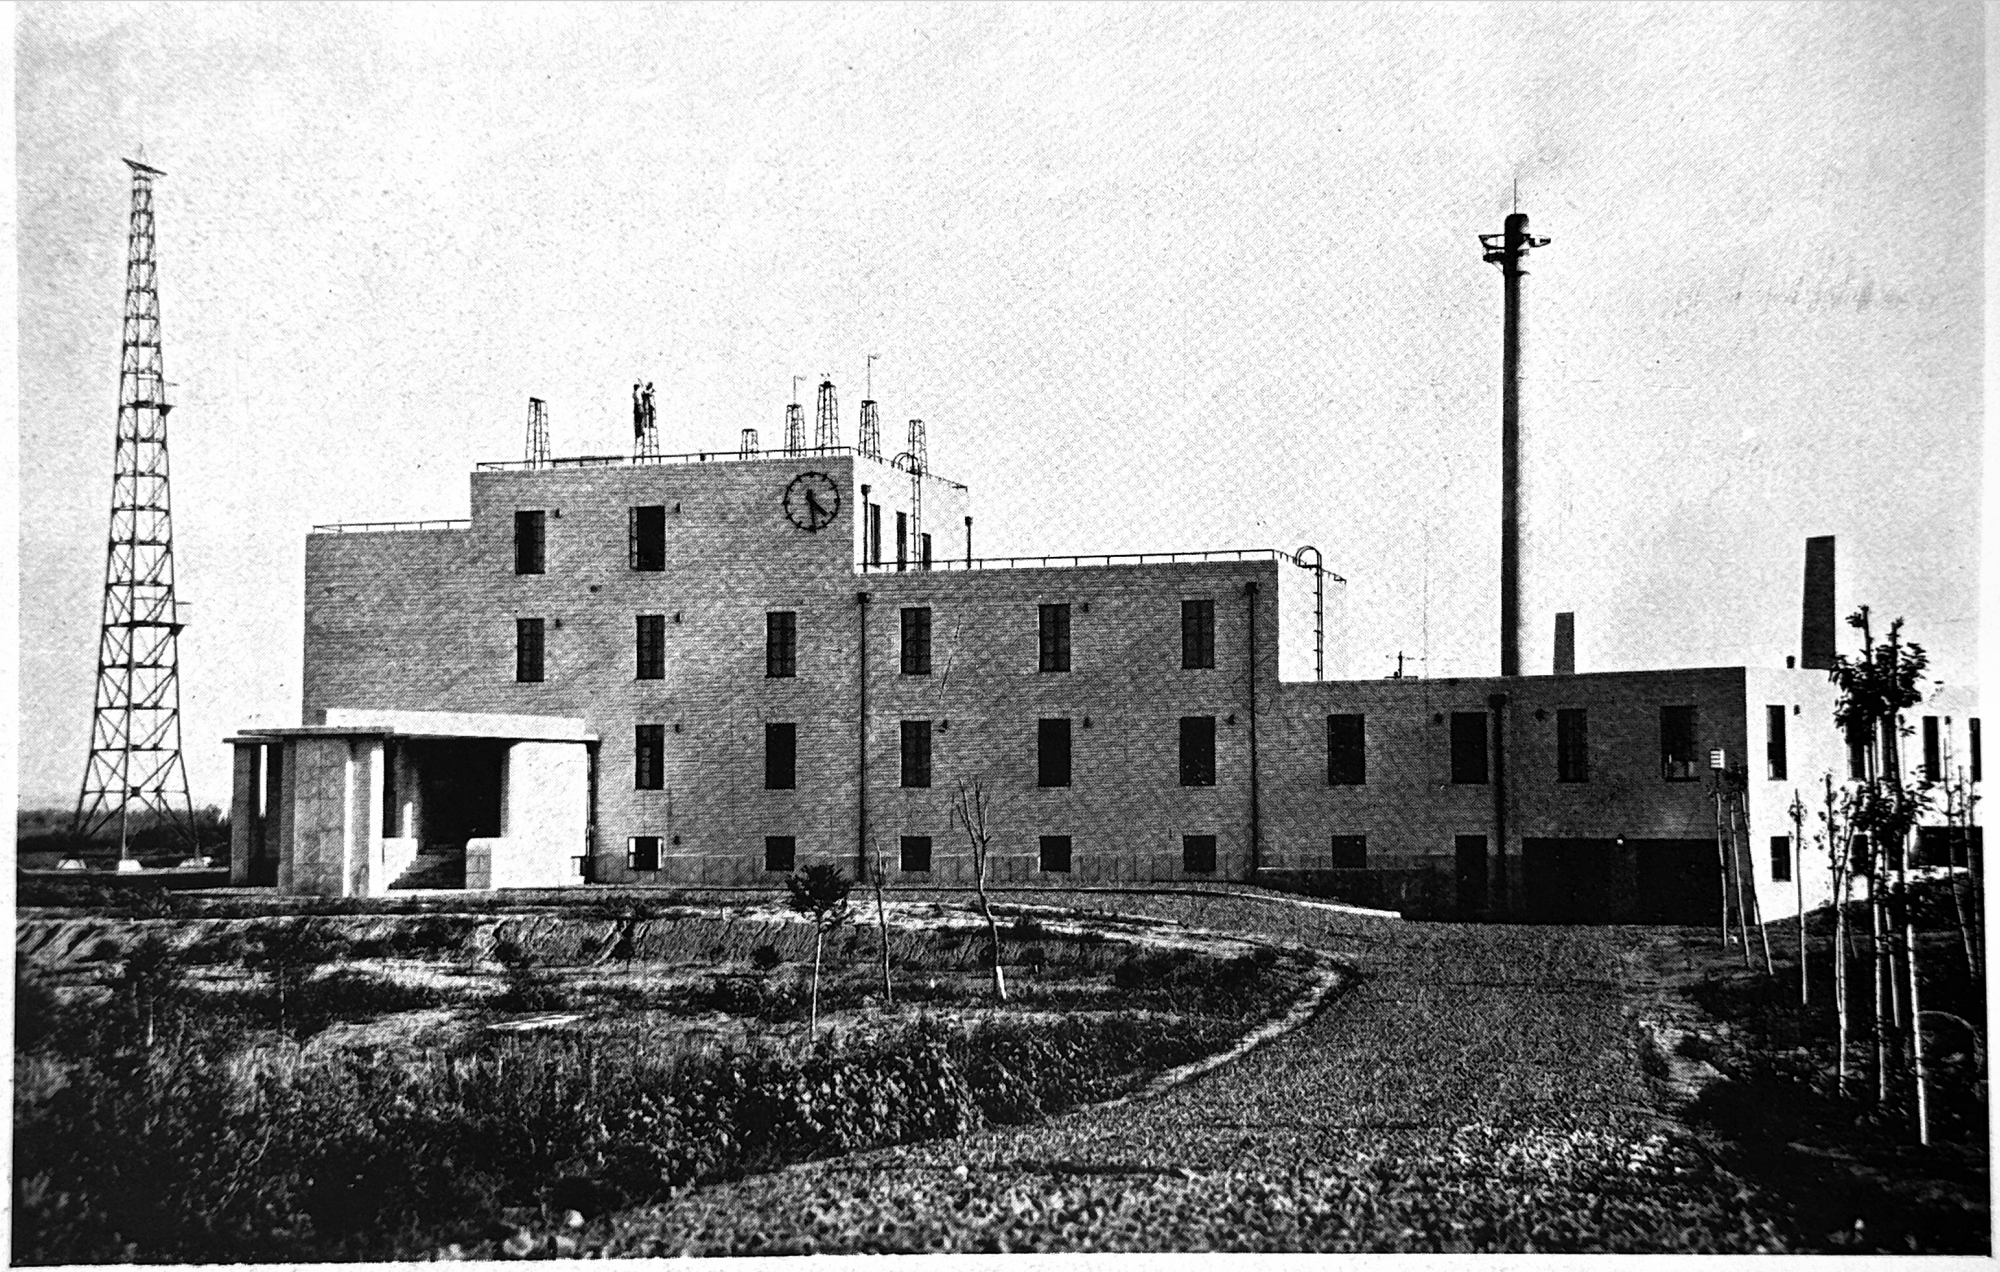
Up-to-date home of the Central Meteorological Observatory in the outskirt of Hsinking.



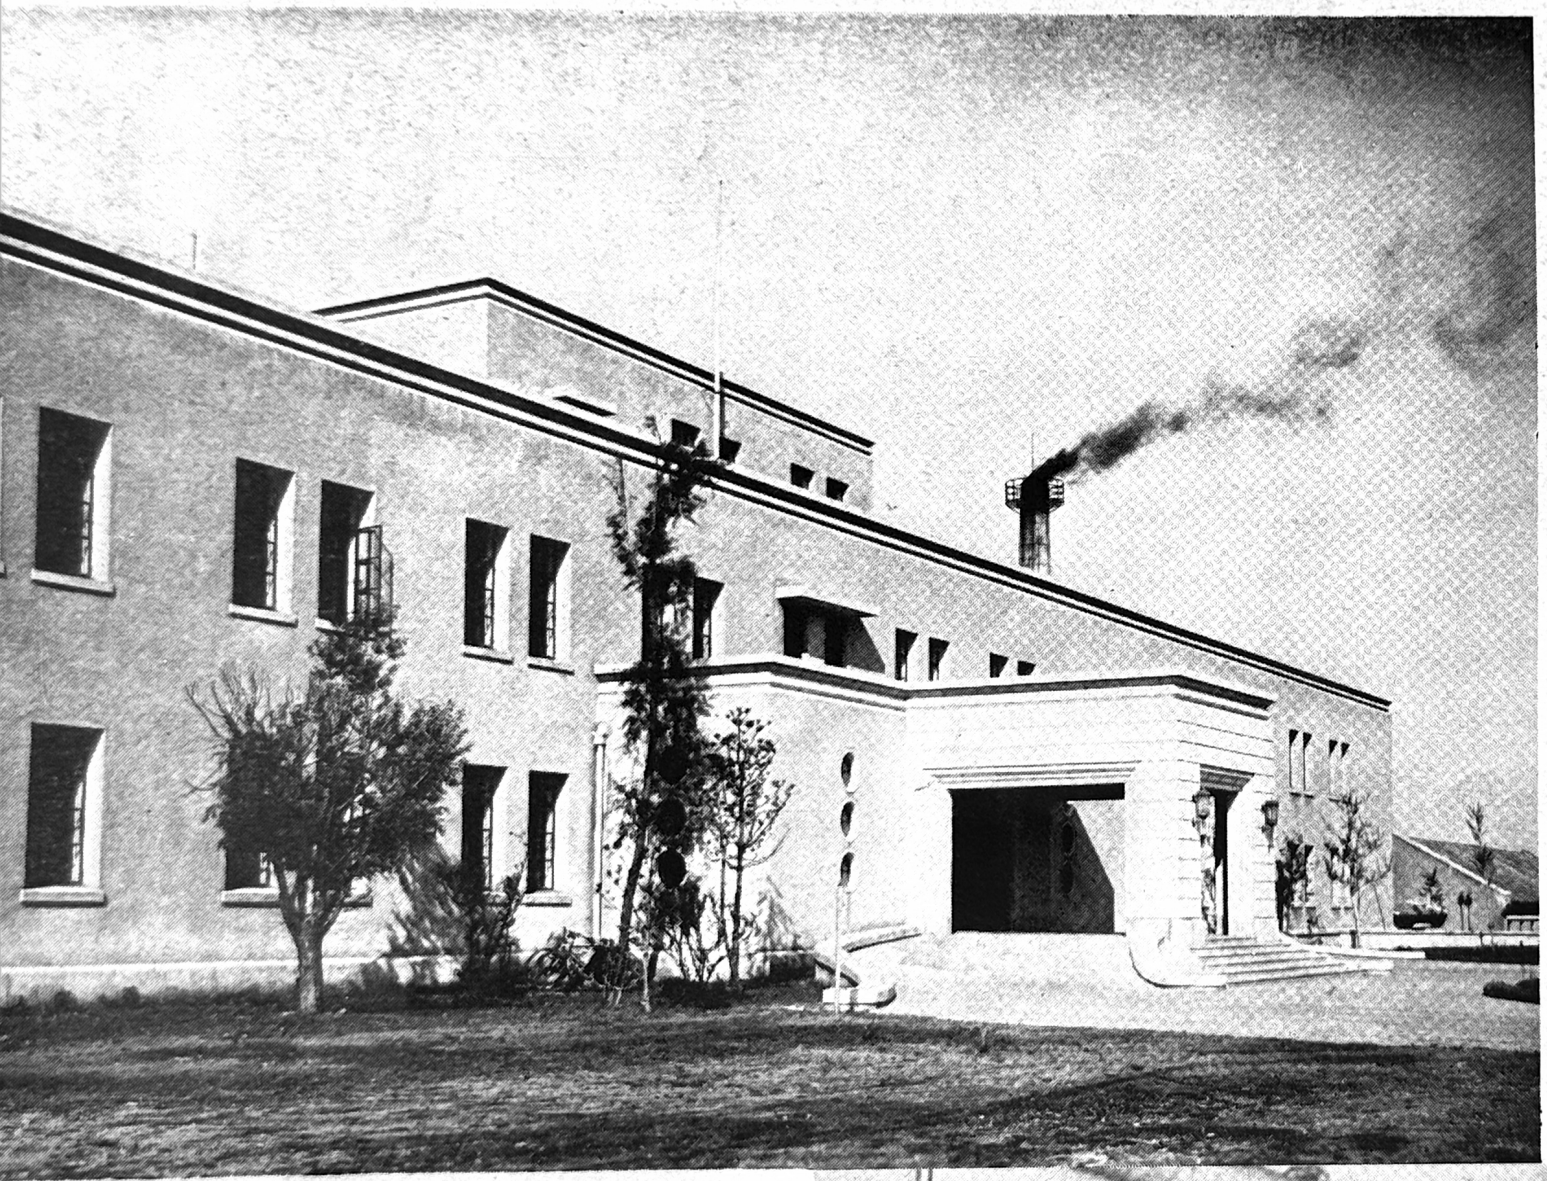
Newly contructed building of the Institute of Public Health, Hsinking.

Bacterial cultivation work in the Institute of Public Health.





Up-to-date home of the Central Meteorological Observatory in the outskirt of Hsinking.

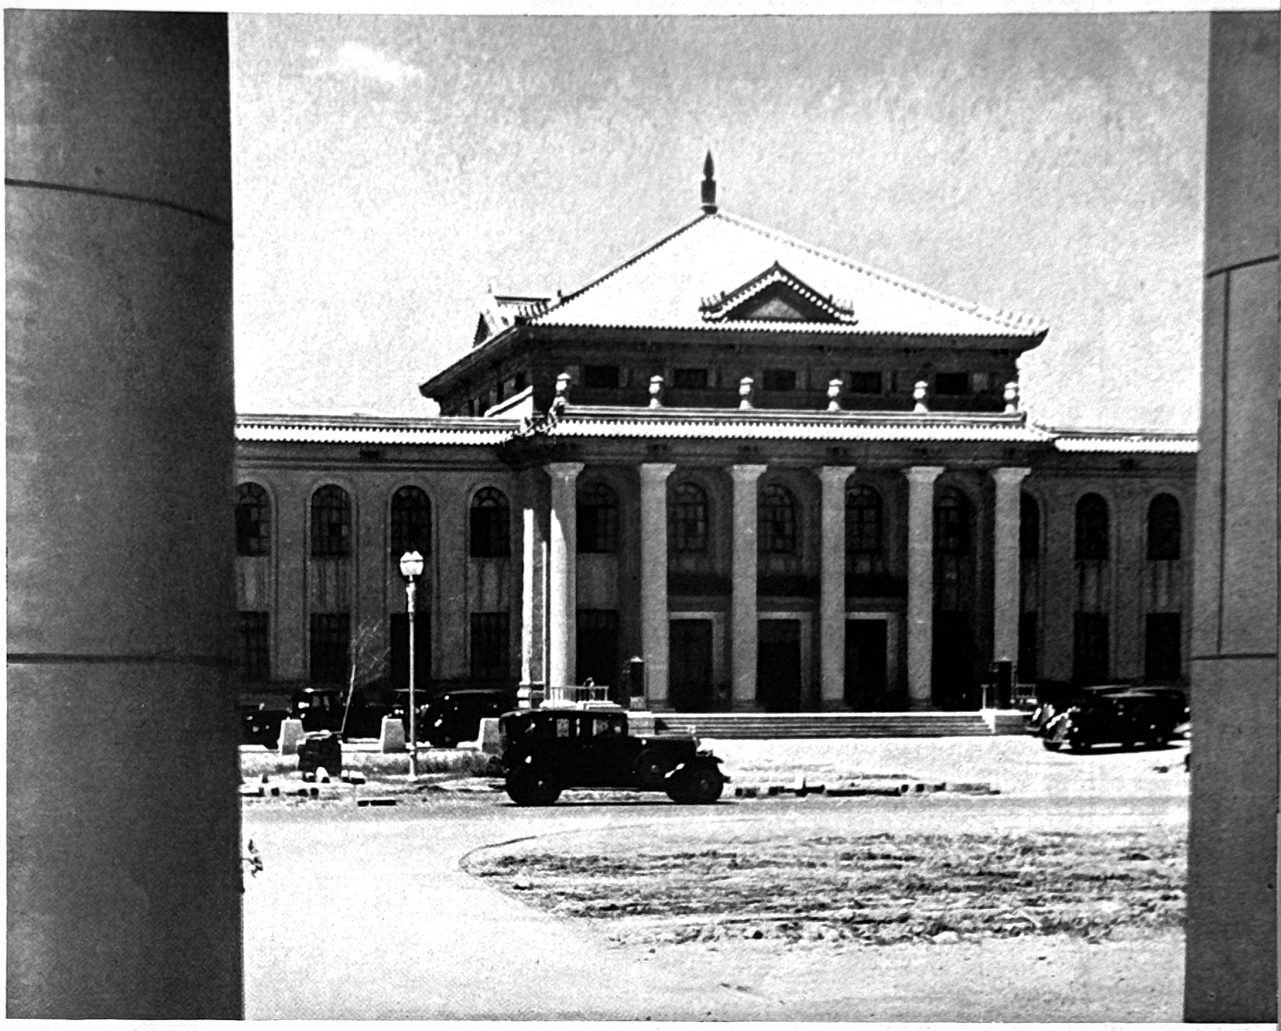


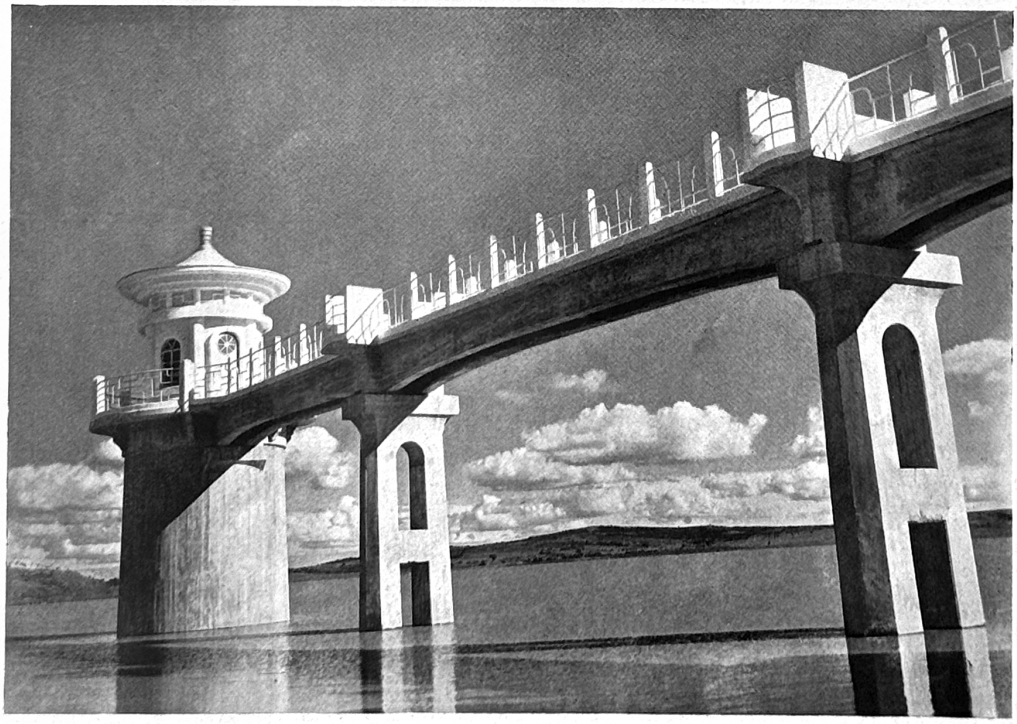
Newly contructed building of the Institute of Public Health, Hsinking.

Up-to-d
logical
Hsinking

Bacterial cultivat
Health.

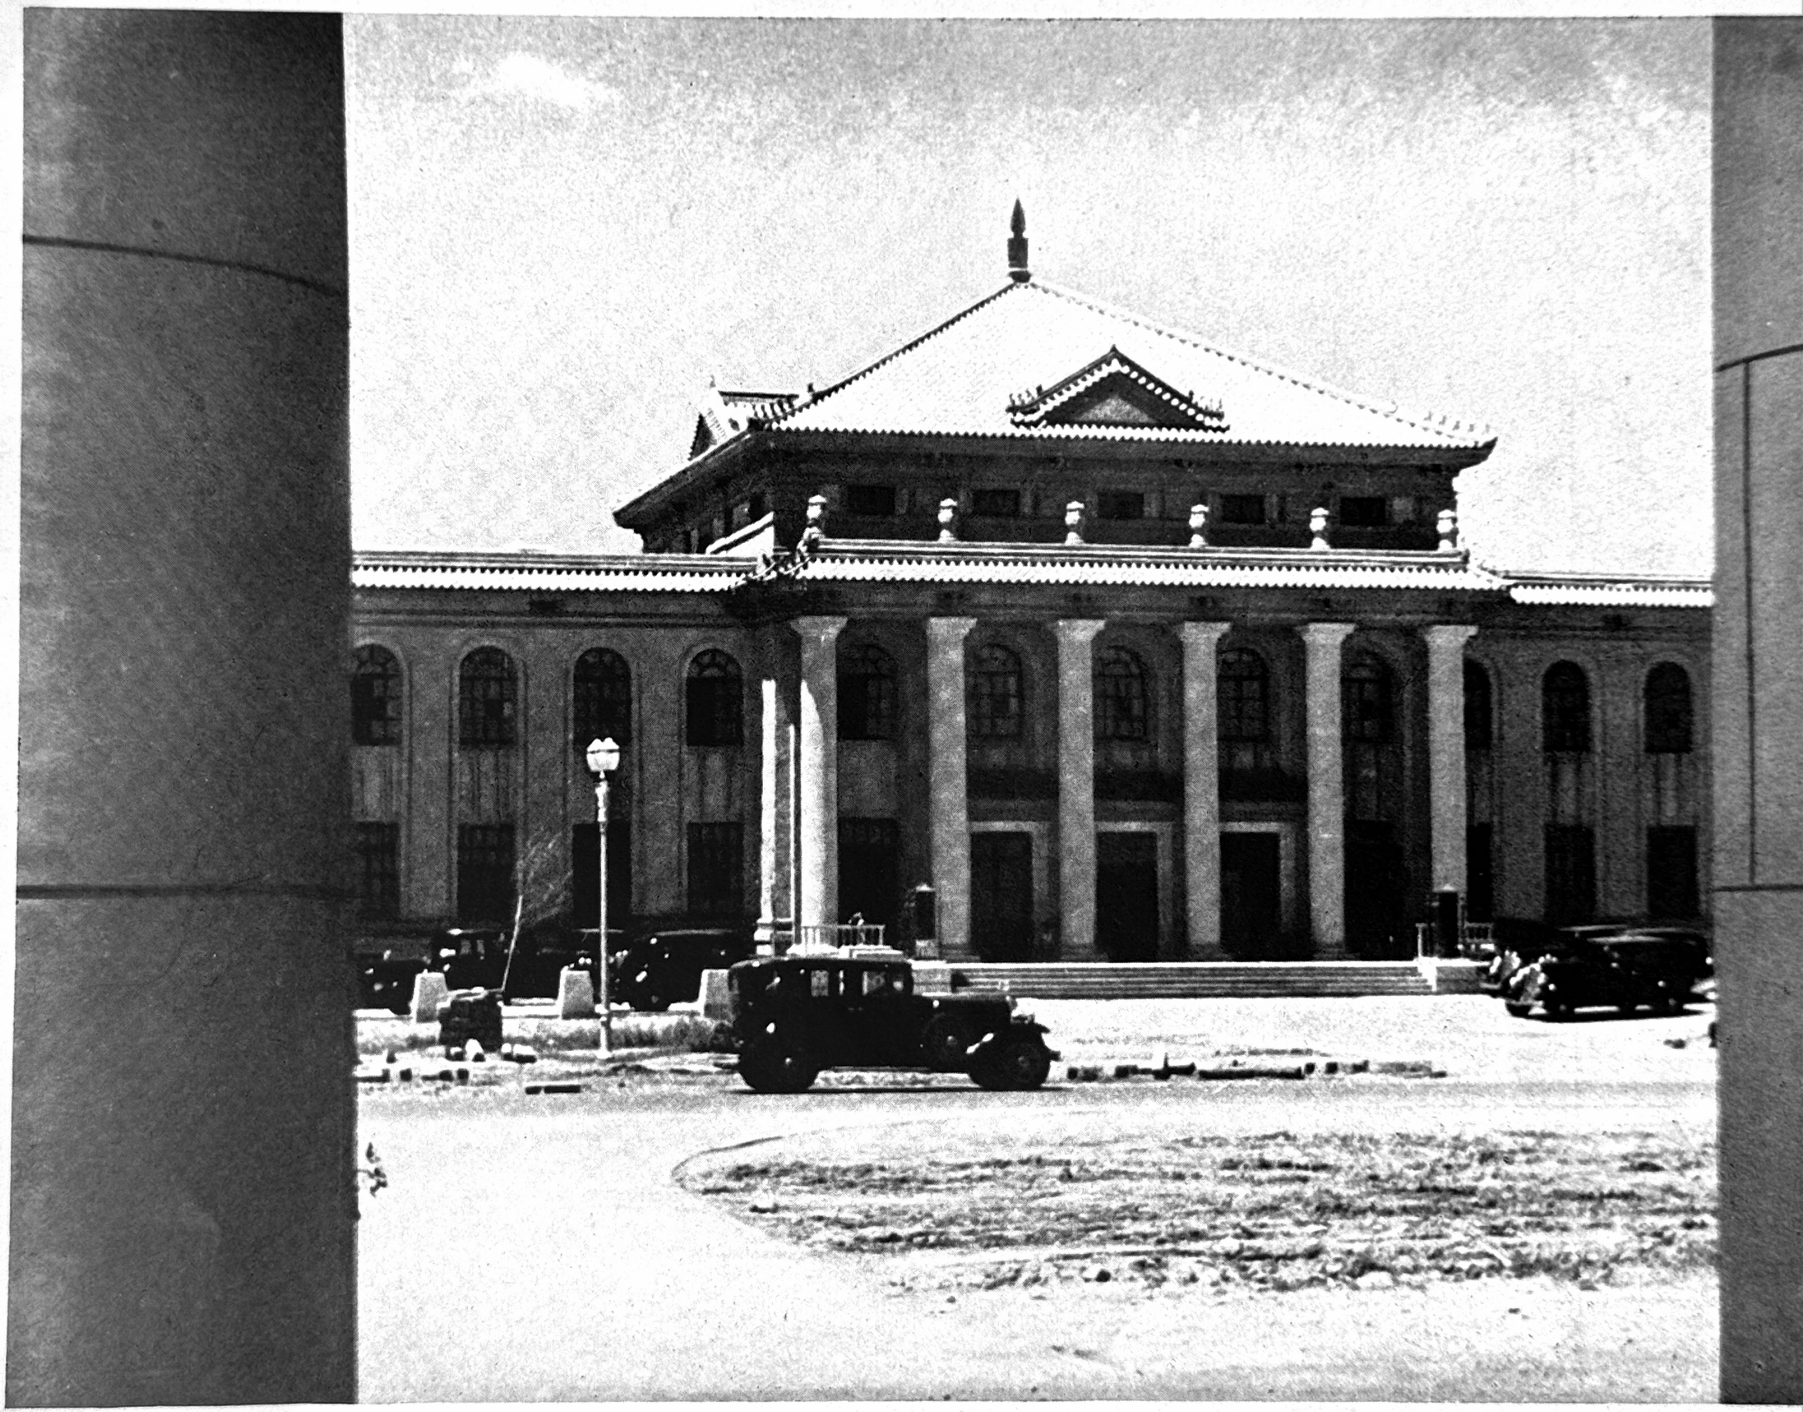
The Institute of Scientific Research, Hsinking, which is under the direct management of the Premier.

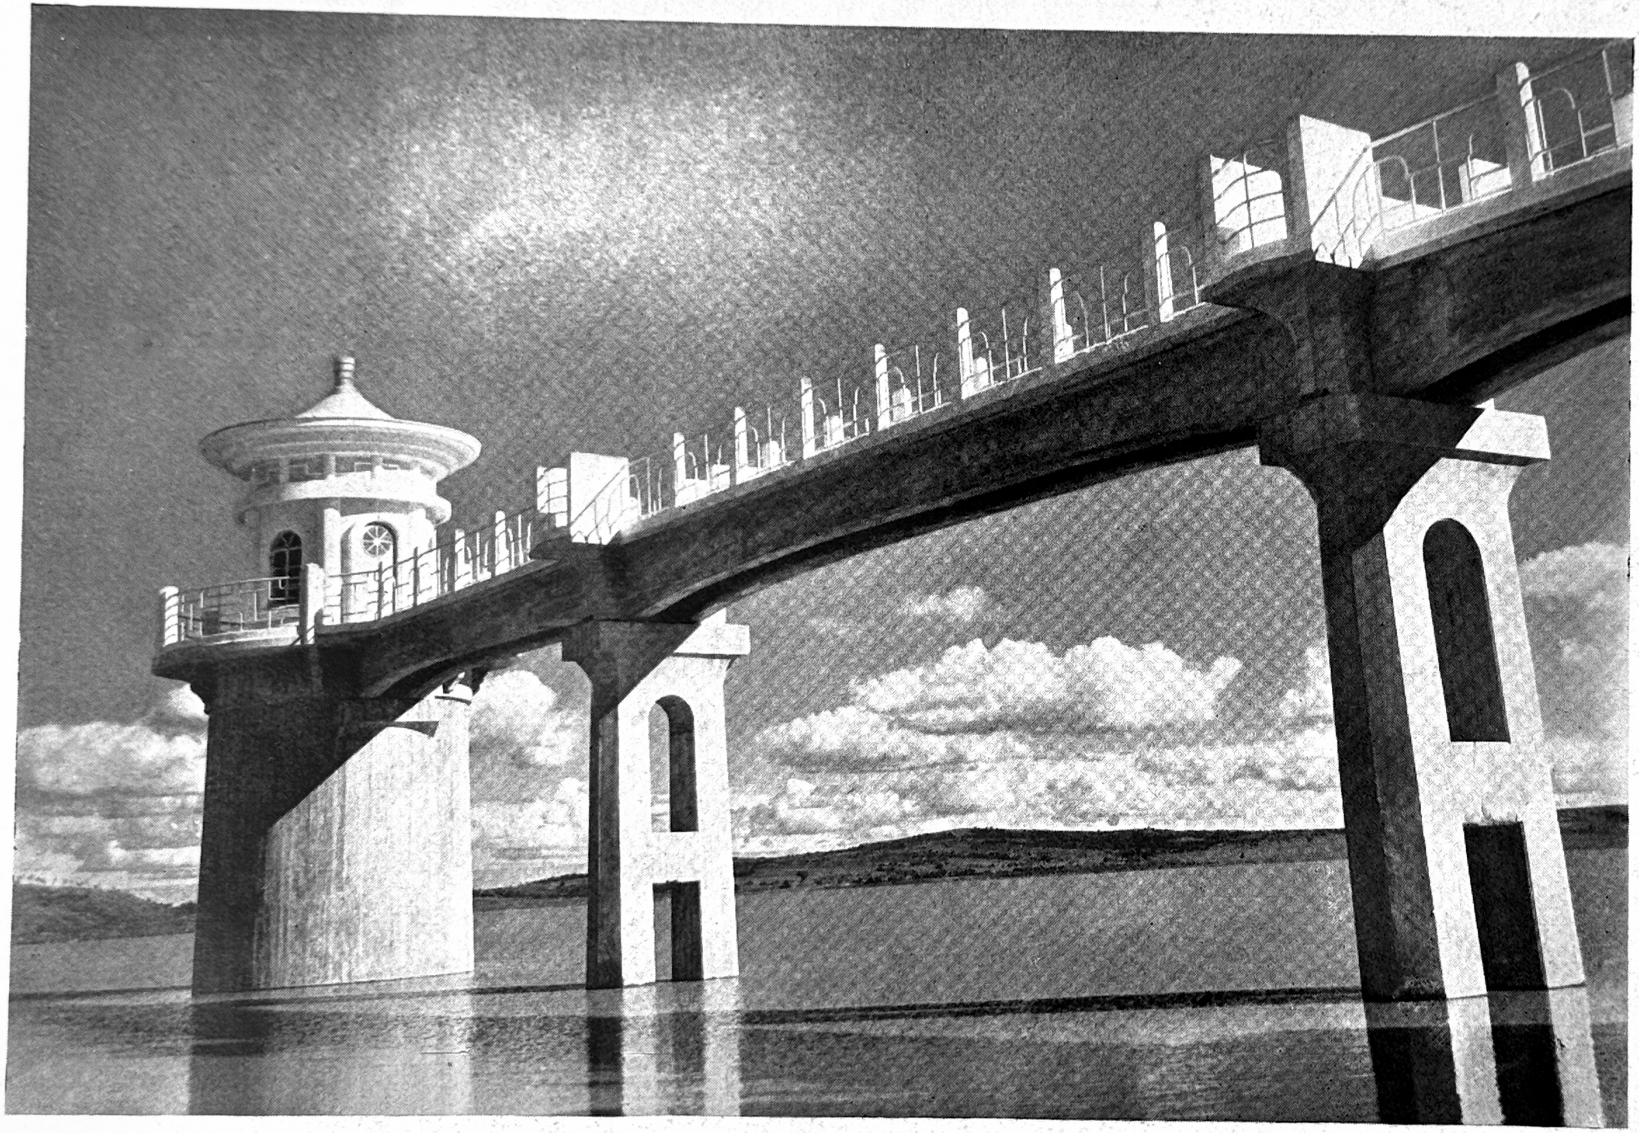




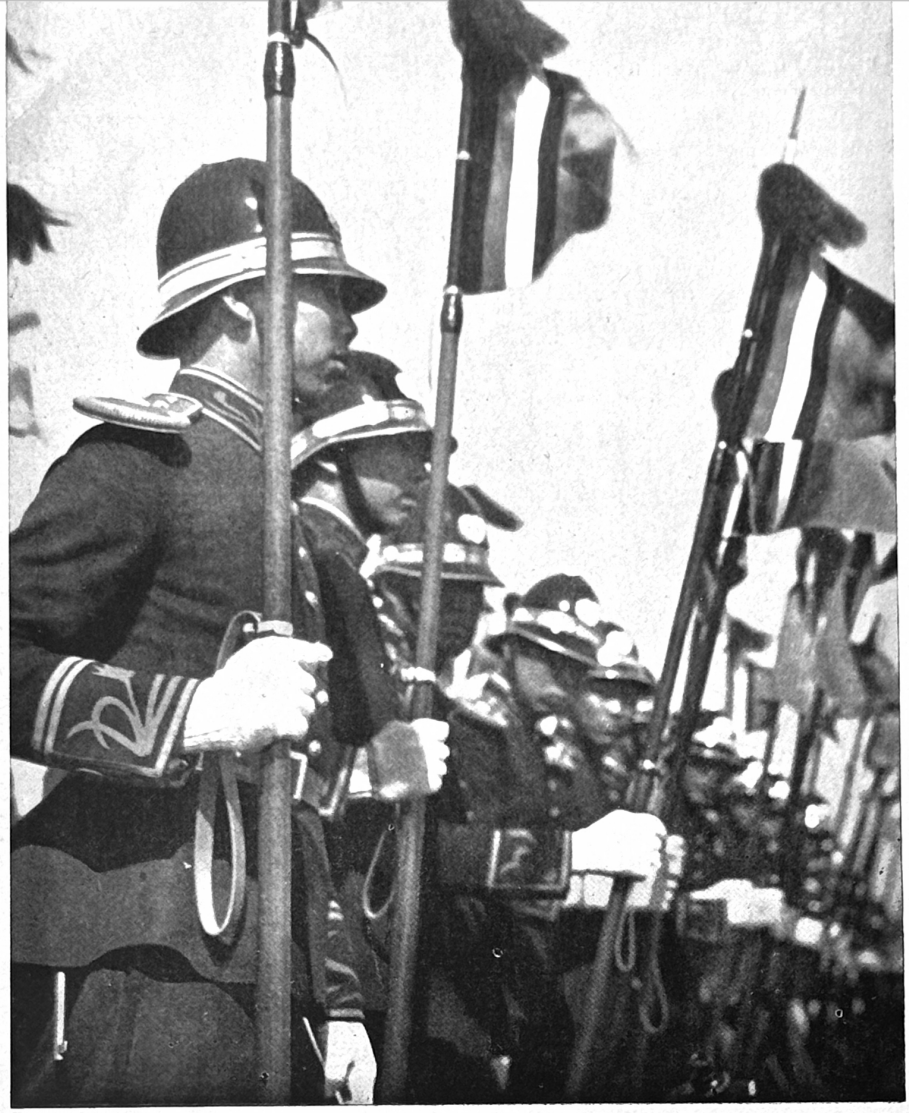
A reservoir newly constructed in the suburbs of Hsinking. It contains sufficient water to supply a population of 500,000.

The Institute of Scientific Research, Hsinking, which is under the direct management of the Premier.



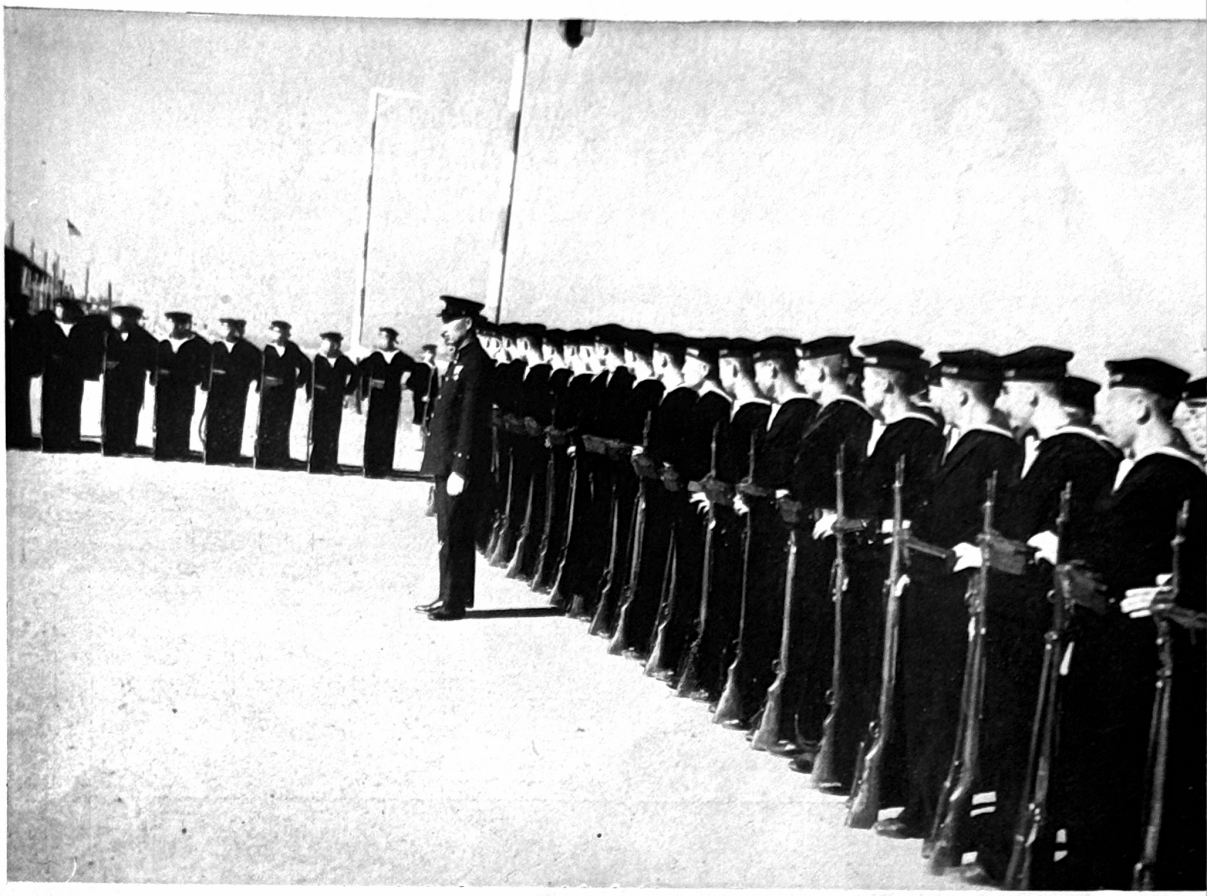


A reservoir newly constructed in the suburbs of Hsinking. It contains sufficient water to supply a population of 500,000.

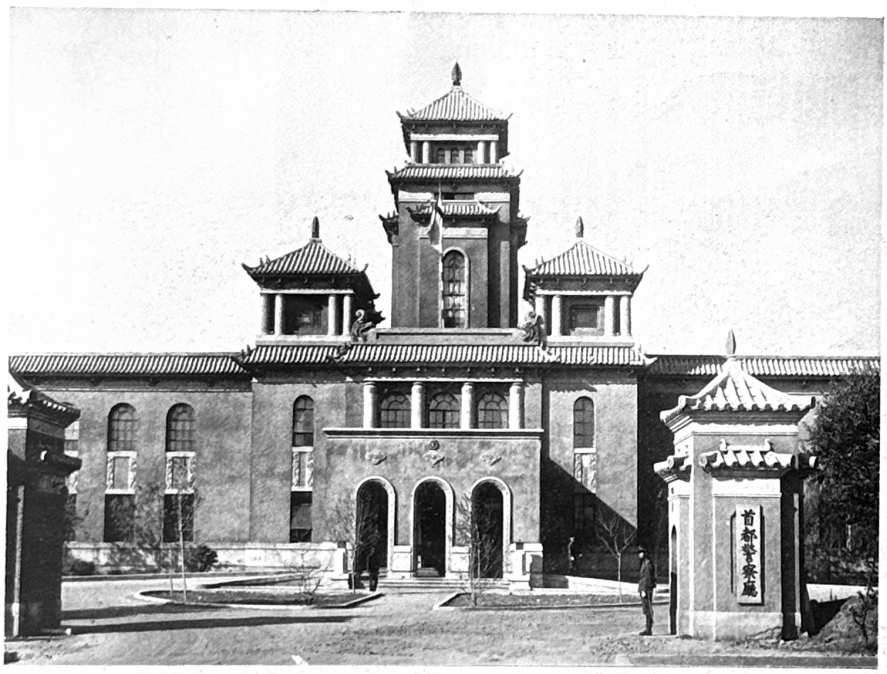


Imperial body-guards.

Drilling of local defence guards.

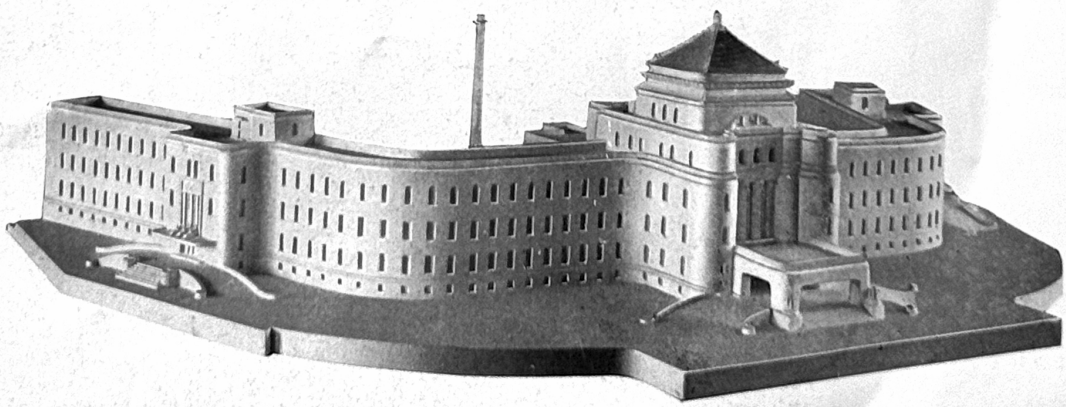


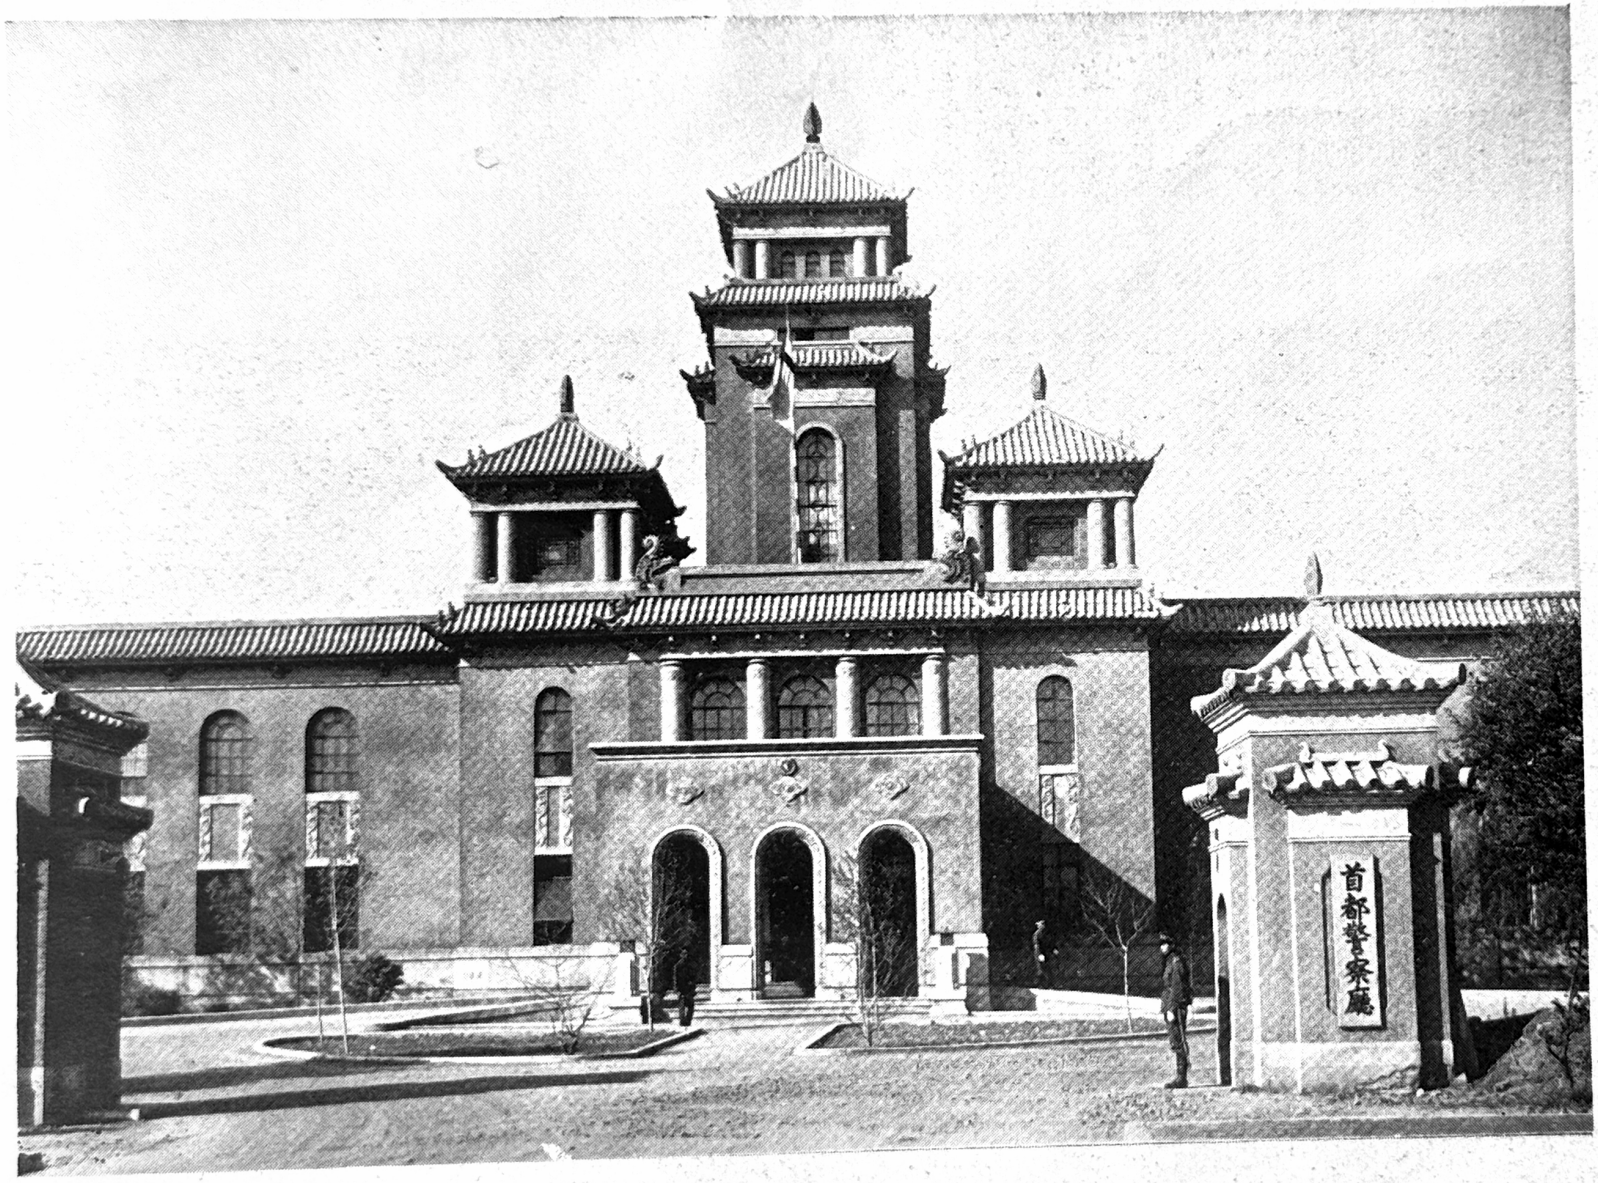
A landing party of the Manchoukuo Navy.



Building of the Metropolitan Police Headquarters, Tatung Circle, Hsinking.

A model of the new building of a law court in Hsinking.





Building of the Metropolitan Police Headquarters, Tatung Circle, Hsinking.

A model of the new buildi in Hsinking.

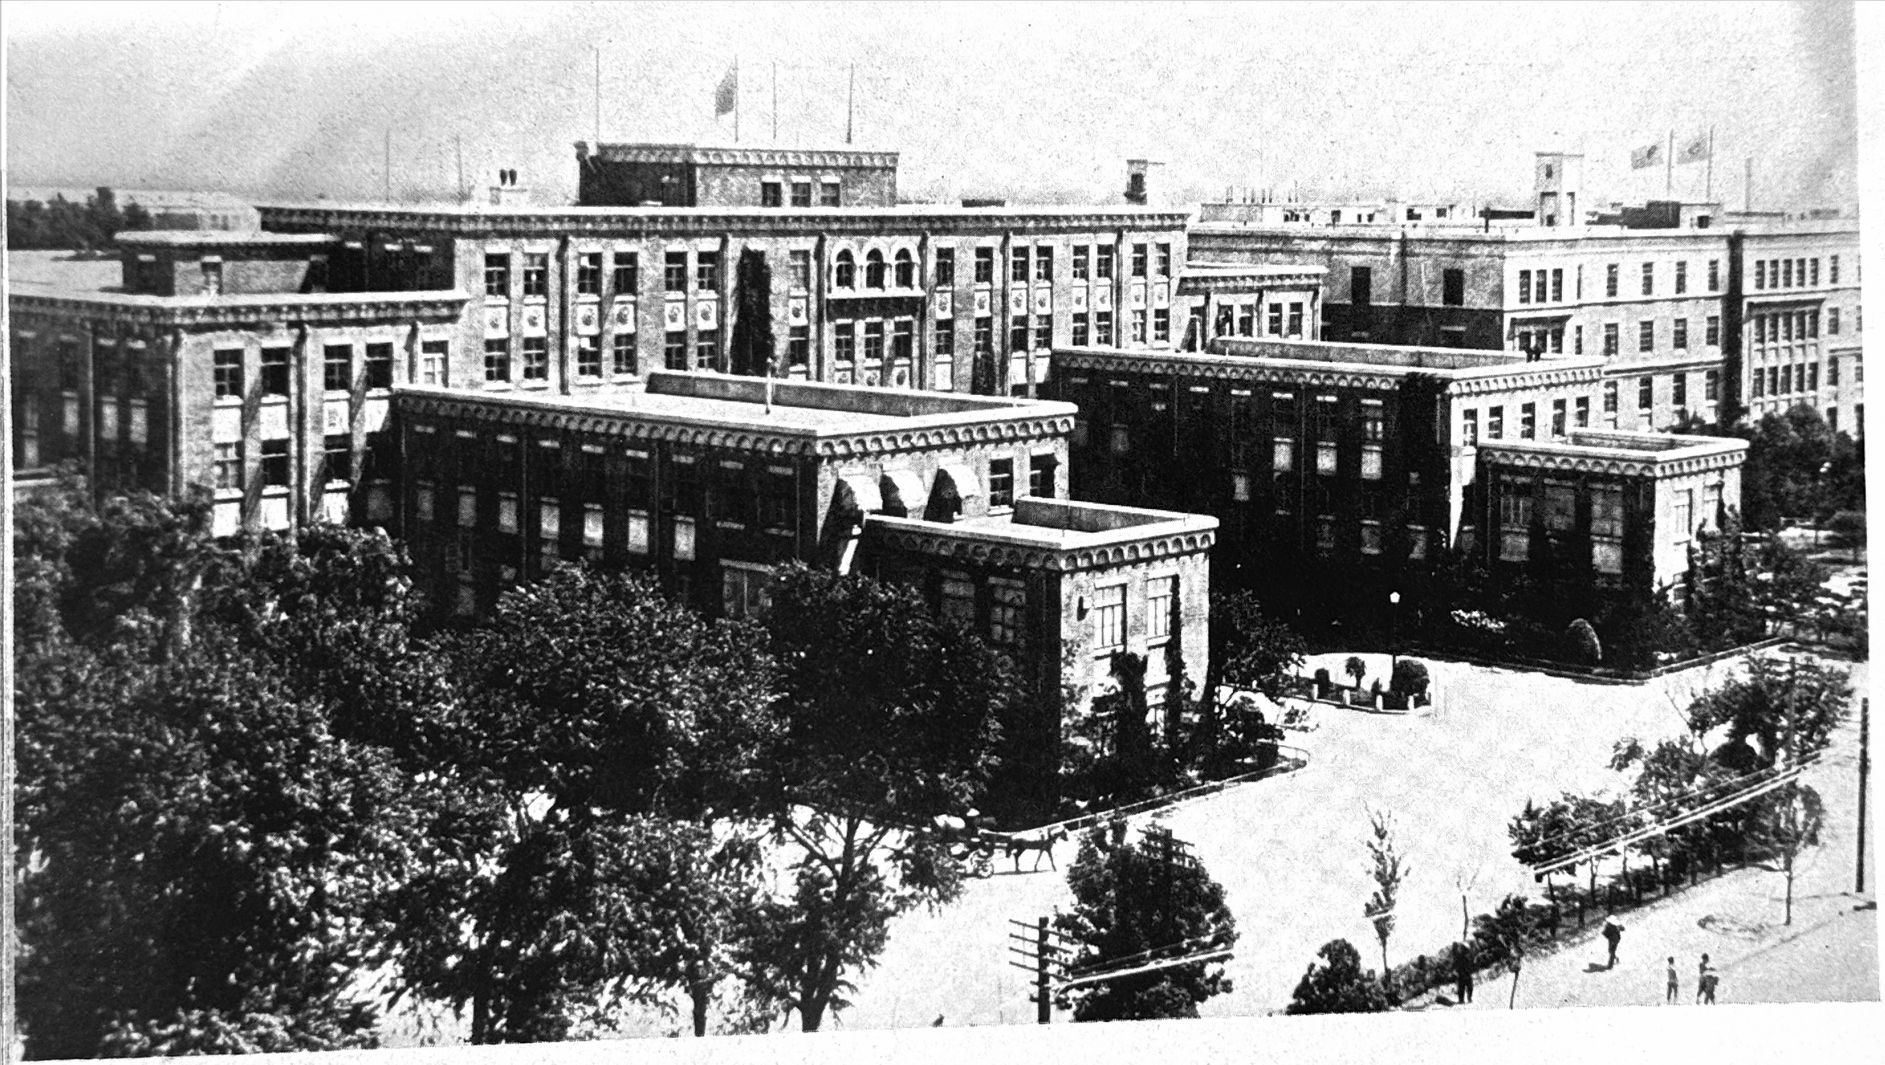
A model of the new building of a law court in Hsinking.

Mukden Medical Univ., managed by the South Manchuria Railway Company.

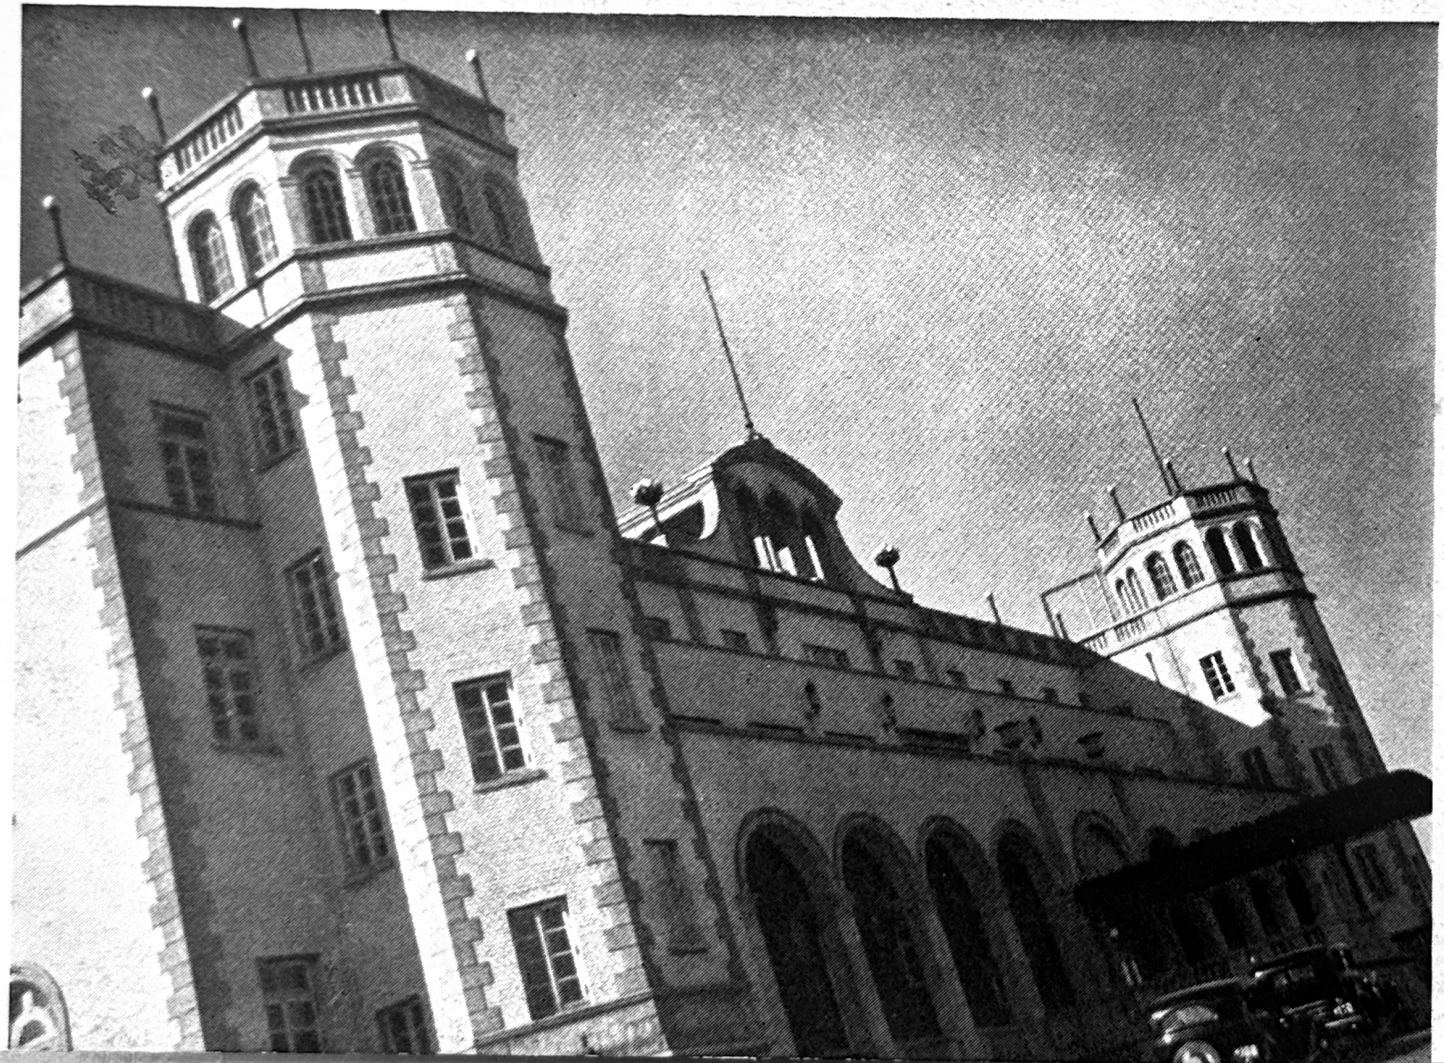
Fushun Girls' High School which is under the management of the South Manchuria Railway Company.

Yamato Hotel, Mukden, operated by the S.M.R. Company.



Mukden Medical Univ., managed by the South Manchuria Railway Company.

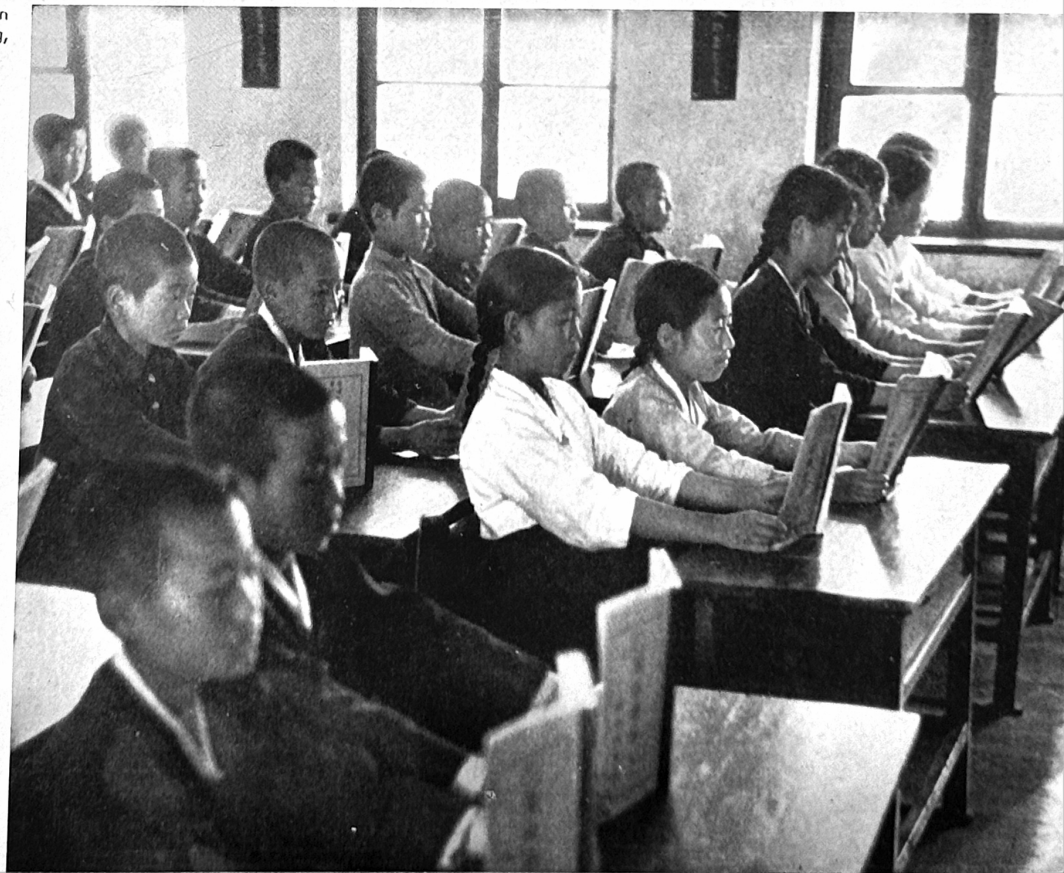
Fushun Girls' High School which is under the management of the South Manchuria Railway Company.



Yamato Hotel, Mukden, operated by the S.M.R. Company.

Japanese school children at play.

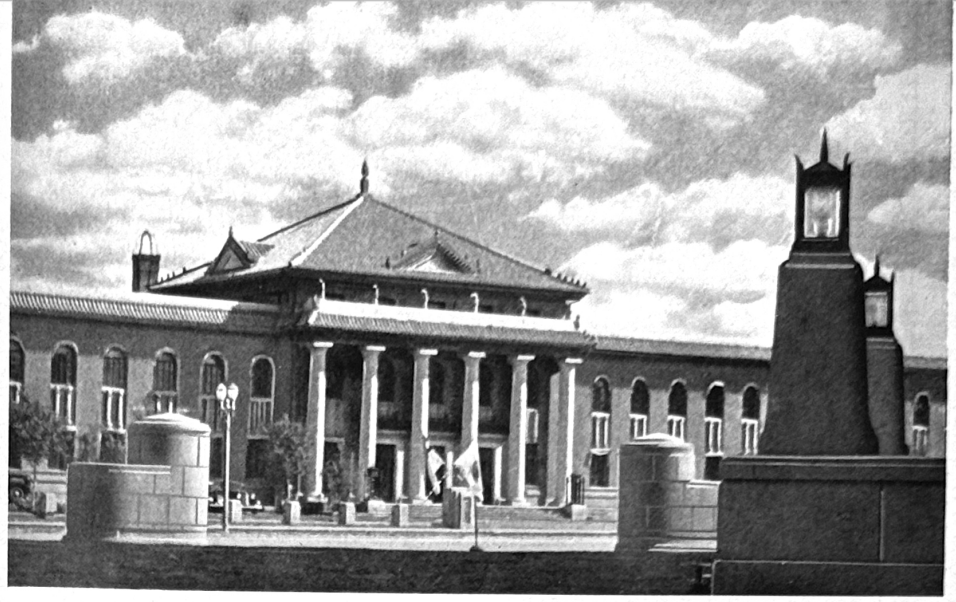
Korean primary school children having a lesson in reading, Yingkow.



Front of a Manchurian park in Harbin.

New ten yuan note issued by the Central Bank of Manchou on July 1 of this year.

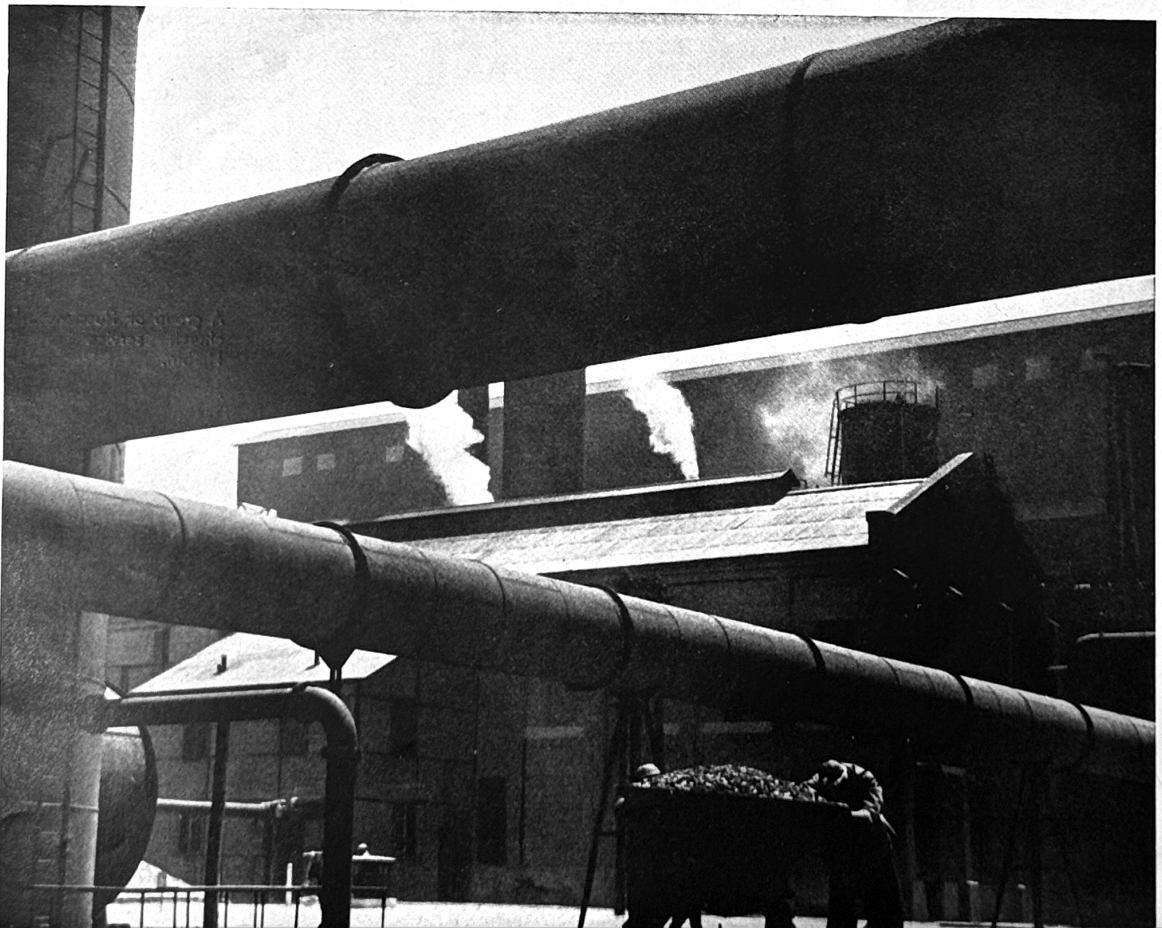
The back of the same.



Building of the Ministry of Finance and Commerce, Hsinking, which formerly housed the Ministry of Finance.

Model of the head office of the Central Bank of Manchou, which is being constructed in Hsinking.

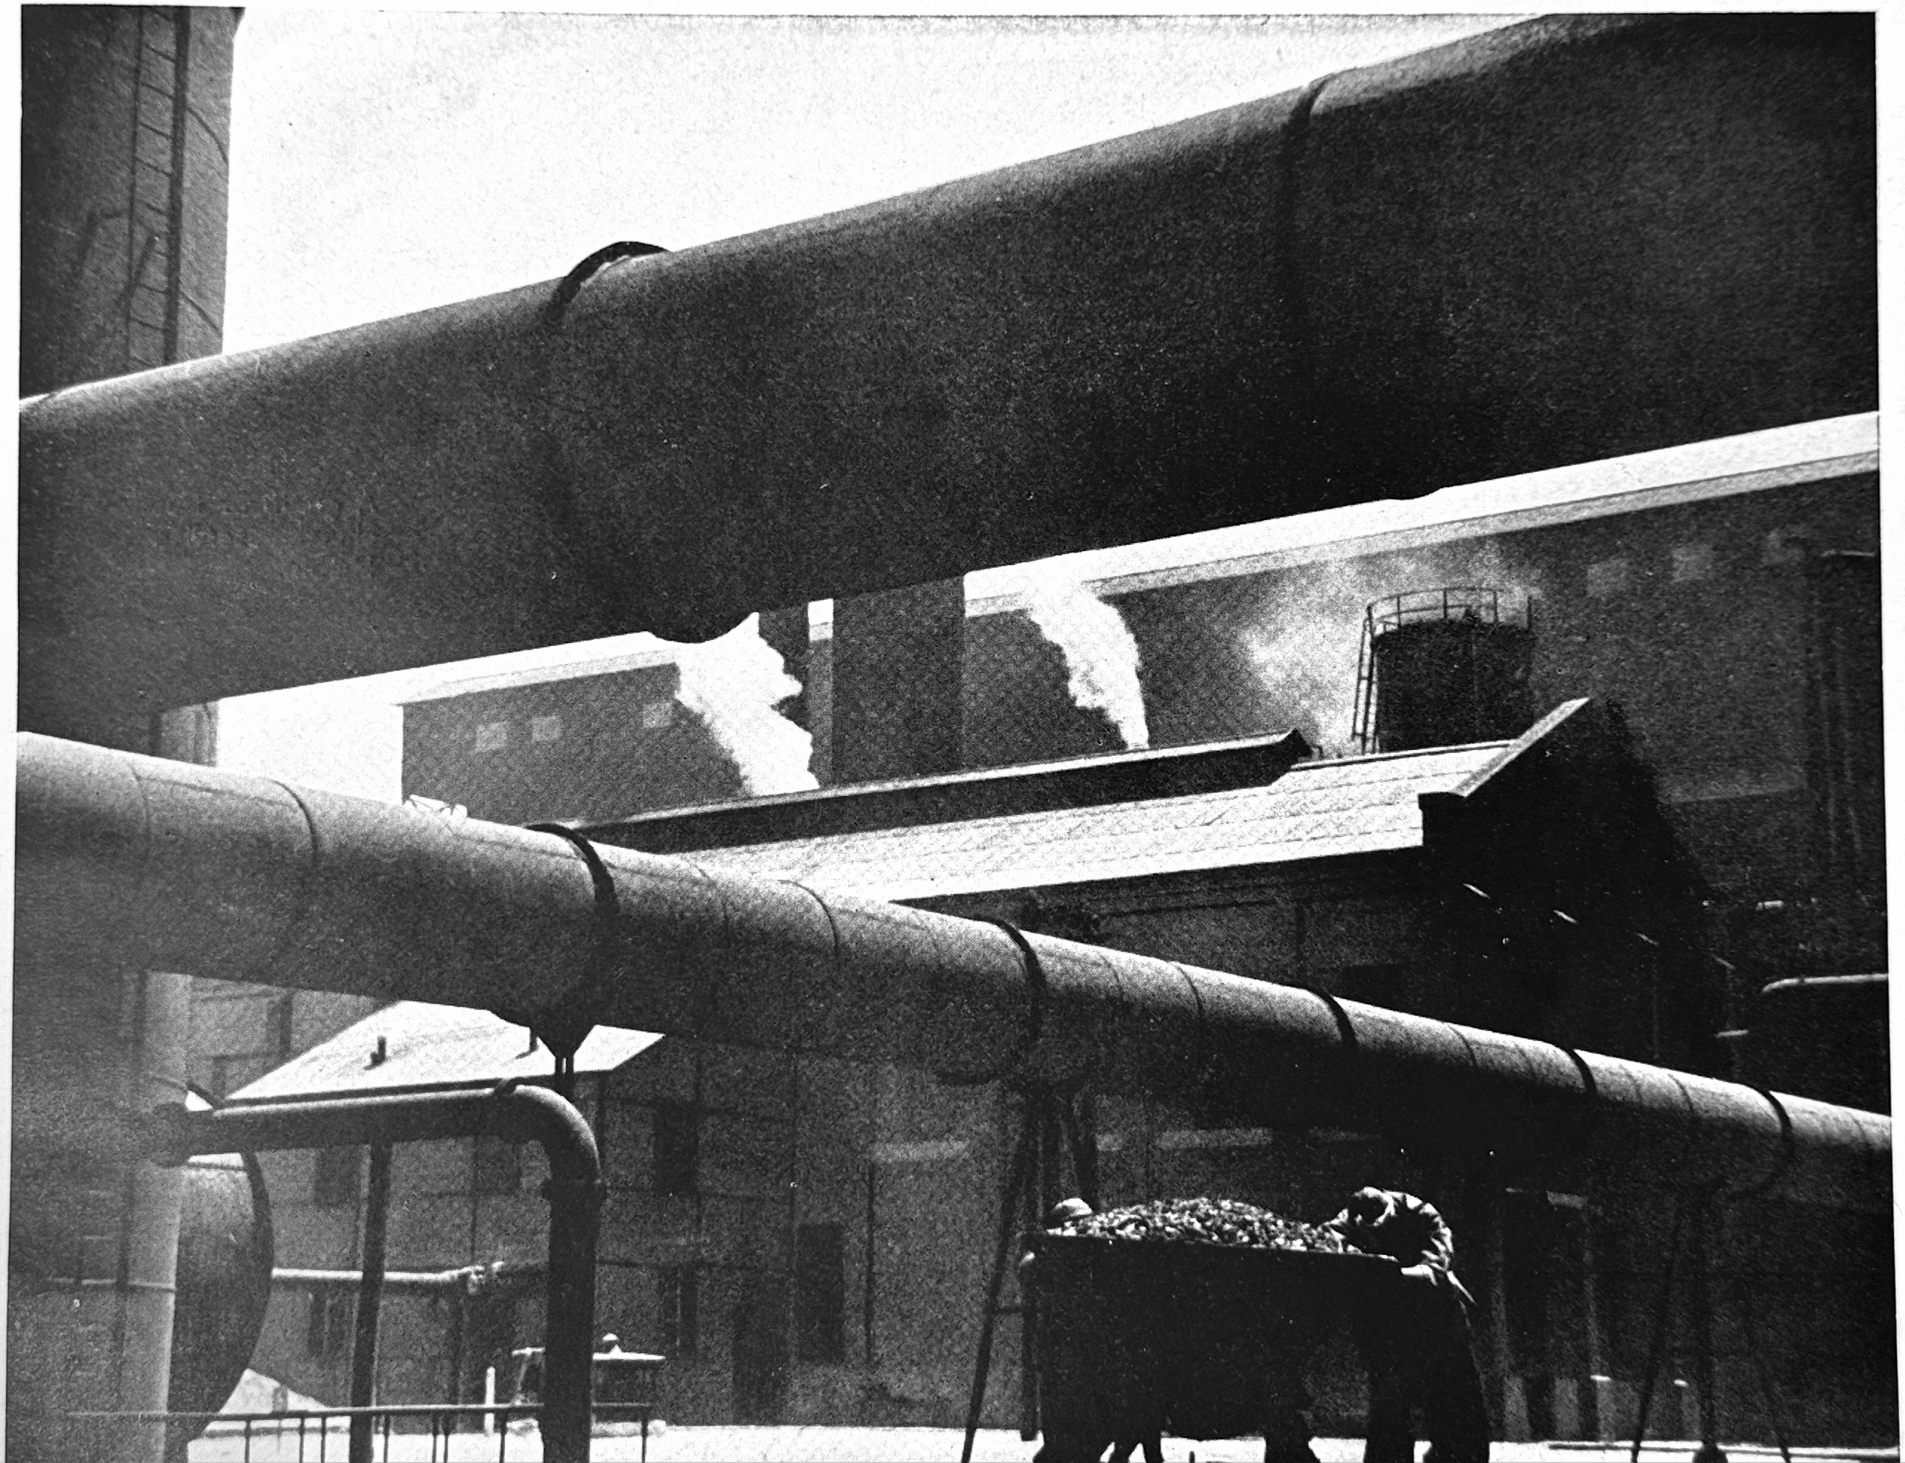
A scene in the Shale Oil Distillation Plant, Fushun.



Building of the Ministry of Finance and Commerce, Hsinking, which formerly housed the Ministry of Finance.

Model of the head office of the Central Bank of Manchou, which is being constructed in Hsinking.

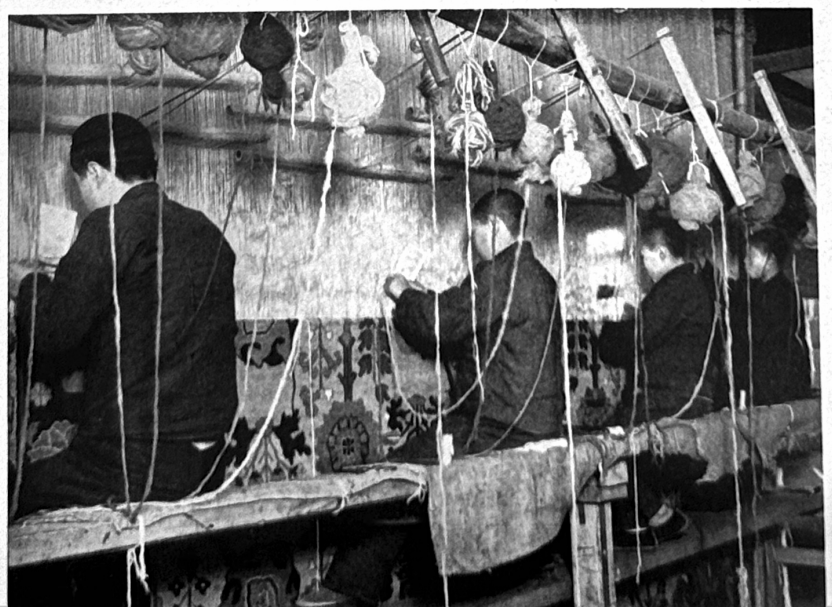
A scene in the Shale Oil Distillation Plant, Fushun.



Mohammedans in the temple compounds, Kirin.

A group of Russians attending church service on Easter, Harbin.

Tung-shan-tang, a philanthropic organization with headquarters in Mukden gives treatment to destitute men and women and teach them handicraft as a means of livelihood.



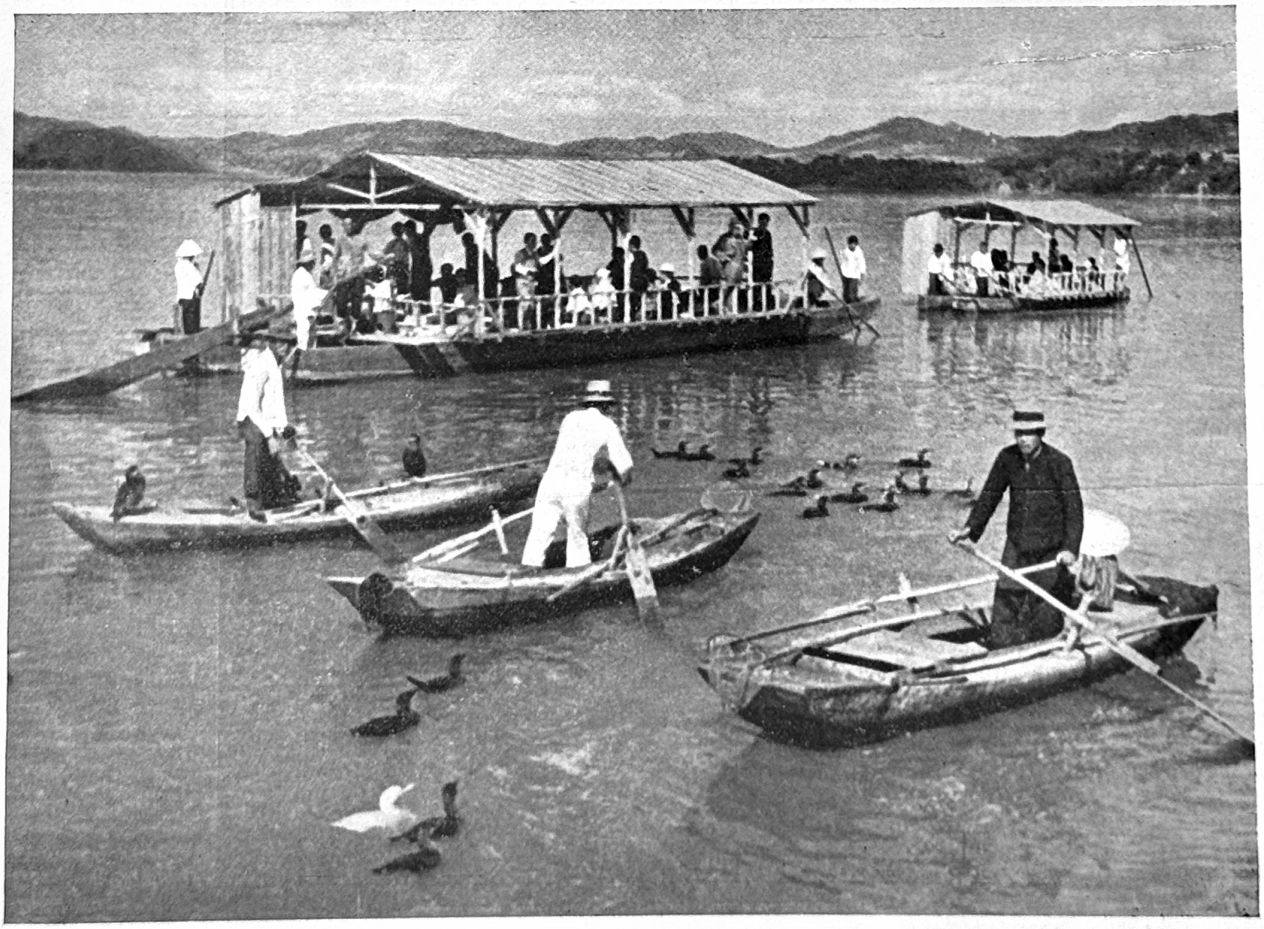
The Harbin Library.

Scene in a Russian primary school, near Hsinking.

The Harbin Library.

Chalantun, a summer resort in the East Hsingan Province.

Fishing with cormorants in the River Sungari at Kirin.

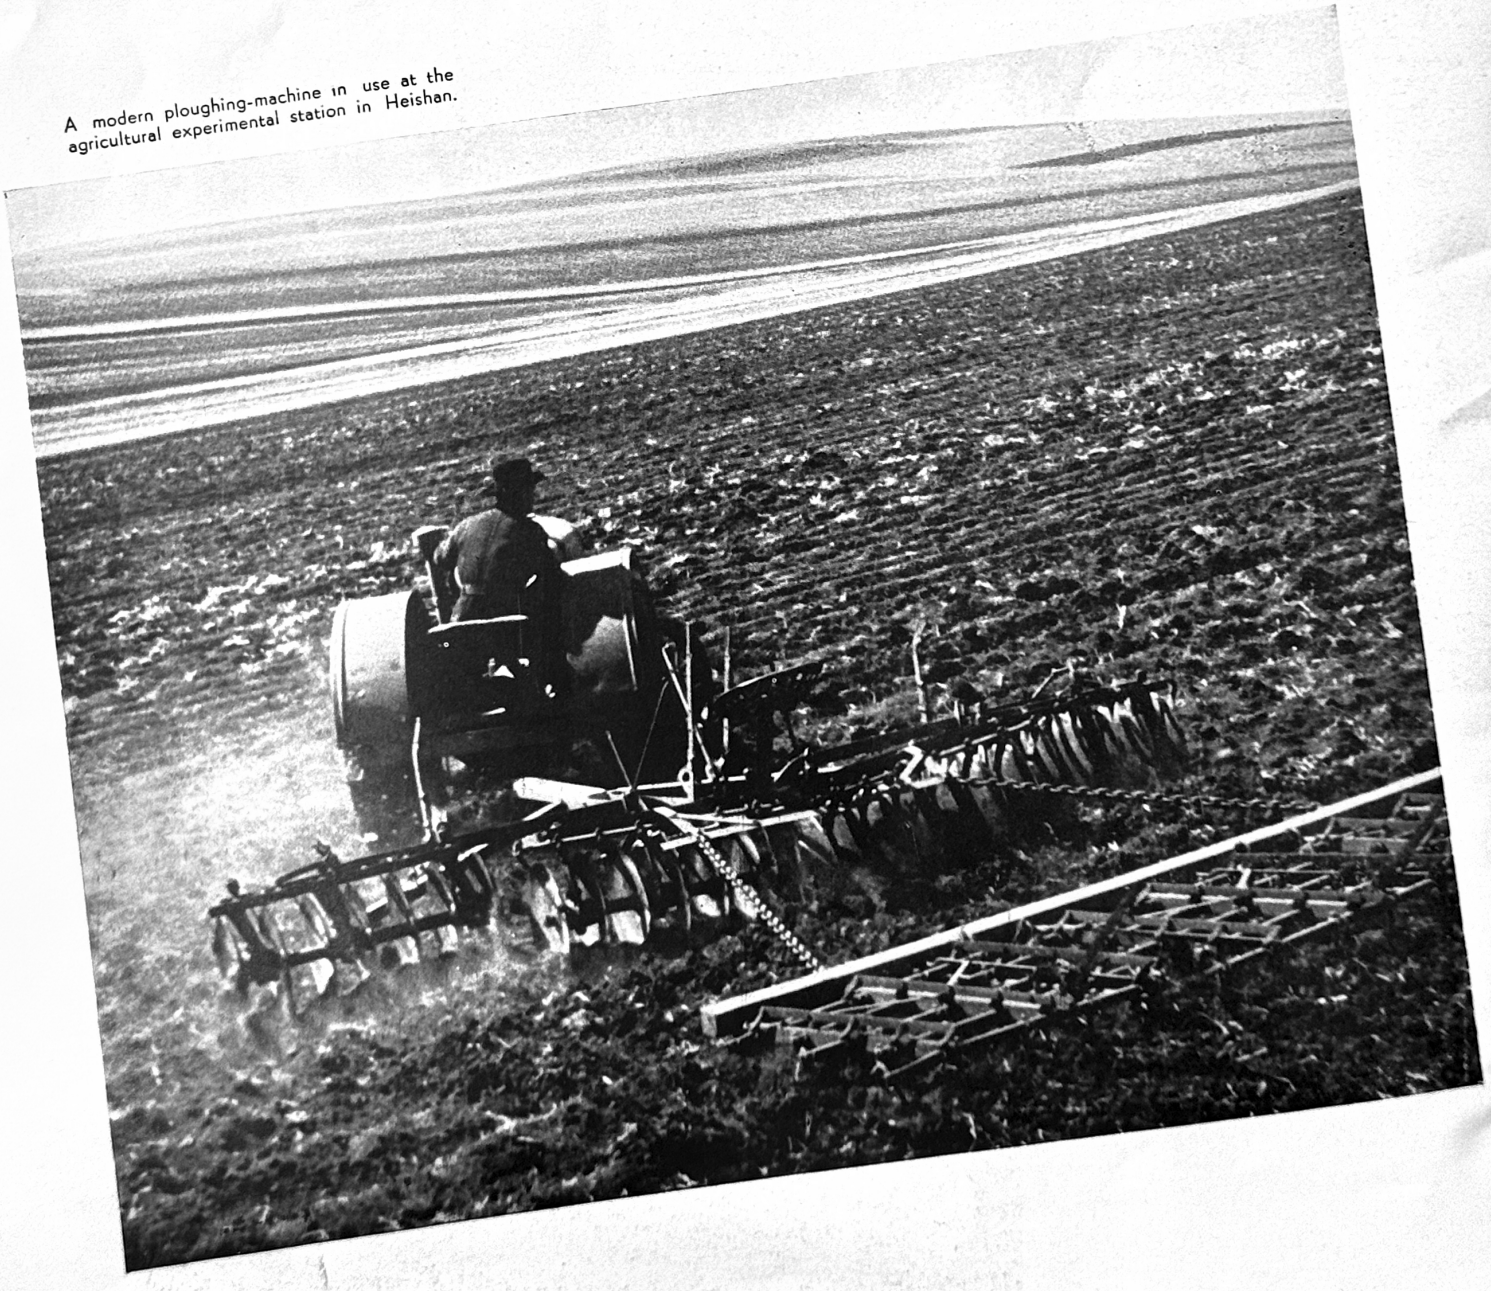


Manchoukuo postage stamps.

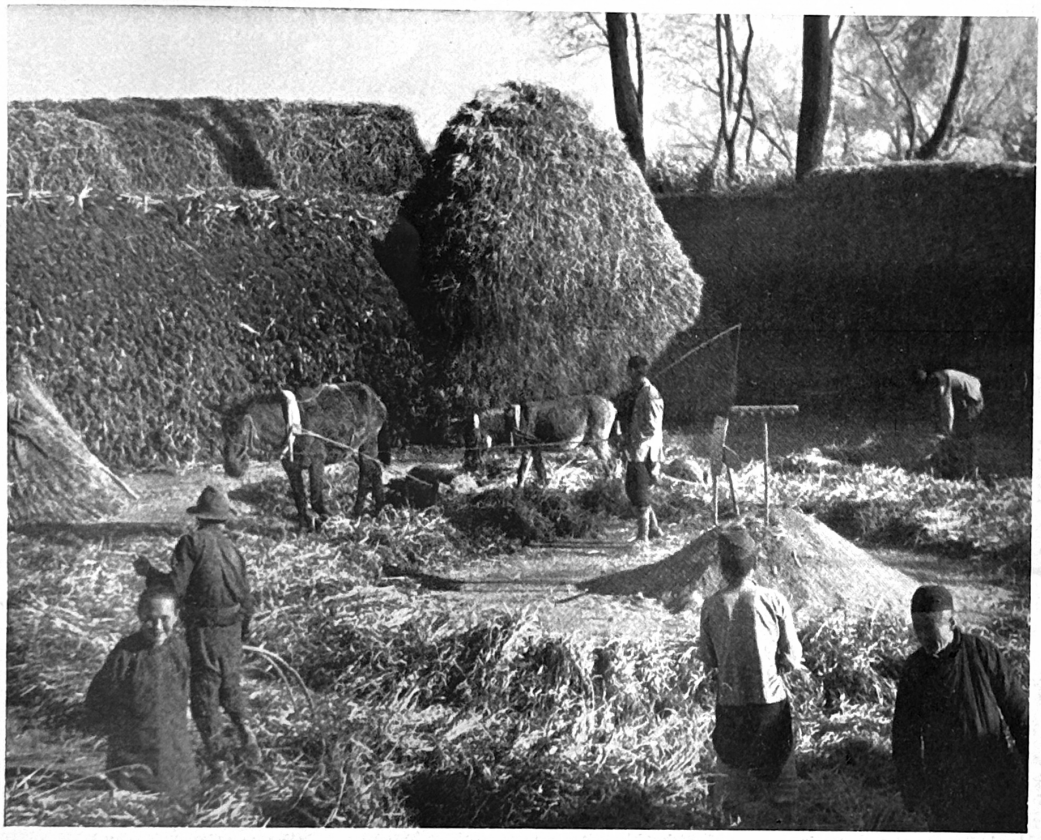
Special postage stamps.

A team of horses drawing a sturdy cart loaded with farm products.

A modern ploughing-machine in use at the agricultural experimental station in Heishan.



Young Manchus on the farm, who are specially trained for efficient agricultural work to become future leaders of their native farm villages.

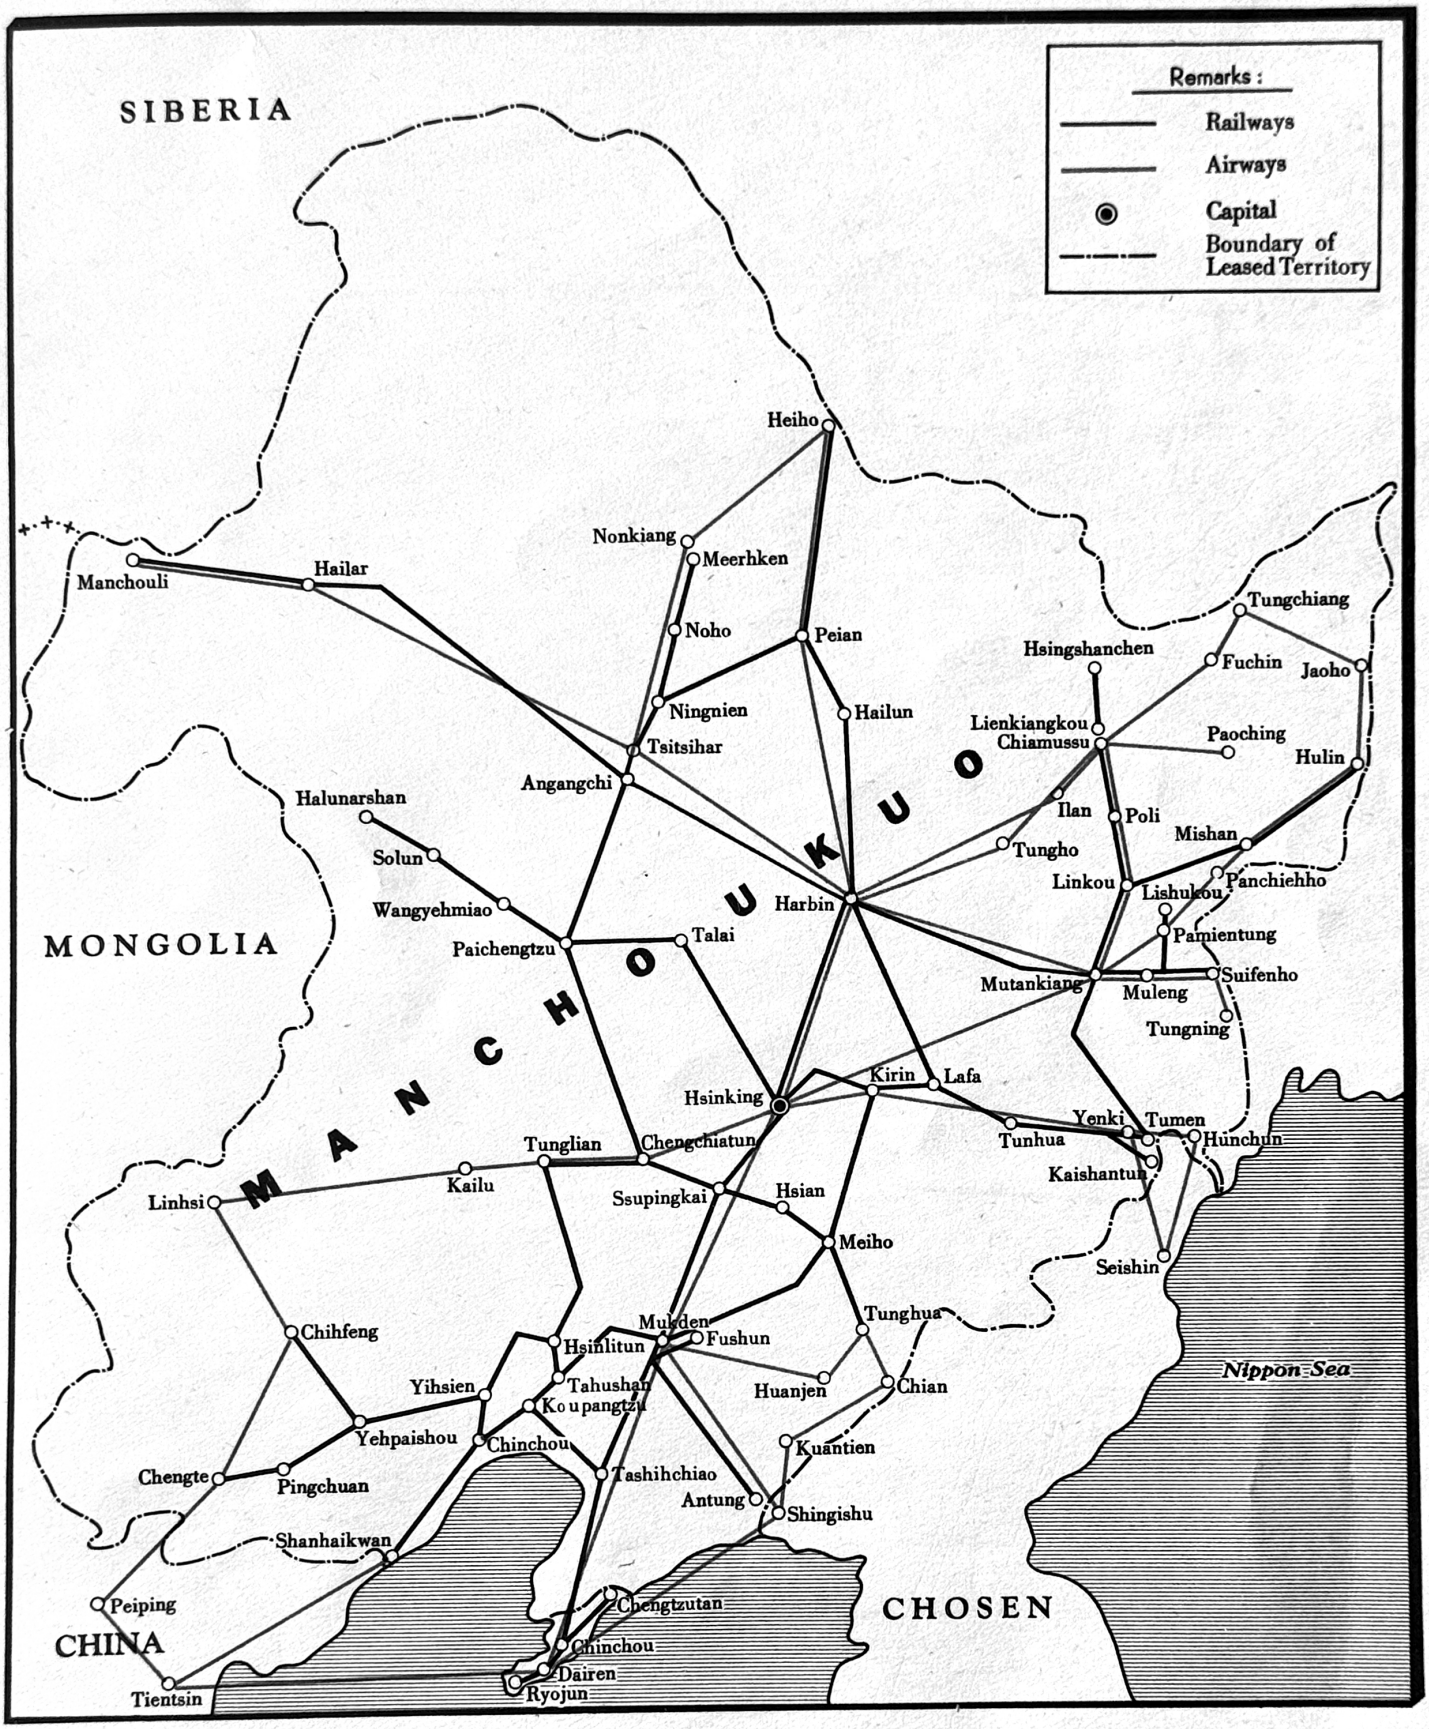


A typical scene in the yard of a Manchurian farm house after harvest.

A street scene of Chengchiatun.

Oil painting showing racial harmony in Manchoukuo put up in the State Council building.

A wall-painting in the age of Kao-chu-li discovered in Chian hsien, Antung Province.



BUREAU OF INFORMATION
GENERAL AFFAIRS BOARD
STATE COUNCIL MANCHOU-
KUO GOVERNMENT

A PICTORIAL SKETCH

Marienburg

1937